IN MEMORIAM

We lost two of our best friends during the summer of 1993.

CARMINE CINCOTTA (left), the Emmy award-winning sports producer for all three local affiliates — WABC, WCBS and finally WNBC — died on August 26 at age 41 after a valiant, three-year battle with Hodgkin's disease. In everything he touched, both on and off the air, Carmine was a consummate professional, a trailblazing pioneer, a courageous fighter, and, above all, a loving, caring individual. As the Daily News' Bob Raissman wrote: "In a business full of huge egos, he was egoless. In an industry full of self-promoters, he backed off. In situations where many of his peers screamed, he negotiated. In a world full of back-stabbers, he never uttered a bad word about anyone. And no one — from the high-priced talent to the student intern — ever had a bad thing to say about Carmine Cincotta."

GARY PETTAWAY (right), the man who succeeded the legendary Feets Broudy as the Knicks' game timekeeper, was killed in an auto accident on September 16 in Athens, Georgia. Gary had left the Knicks' staff prior to the 1992-93 season, in order to move closer to his family in Georgia. Upon his arrival, he joined the Atlanta Hawks' gamenight crew, and displayed the same warmth, professionalism and love of the game that marked his decade of service with the Knicks.

The 1993-94 Knickerbockers Media Guide is dedicated to the memories of Carmine Cincotta and Gary Pettaway.

DAVID W. CHECKETTS
PRESIDENT

New York Knickerbockers president David W. Checketts believes that you must have a vision of your goals in order to attain them.

With a clear picture of a championship challenge, and commitment to the New York community and fans, the club's chief executive has established the Knicks as one of the NBA's most successful franchises.

Now in his third full season as Knicks president (he was appointed on March 1, 1991), Dave has brought great leadership and boundless energy to the Knicks organization. "Dave's leadership and dedication have taken the franchise to the forefront of the NBA," says vice president and general manager Ernie Grunfeld. Or, as Newsday columnist Steve Jacobson writes: "Checketts has shown the stuff New York demands."

While the salary cap had hampered the Knicks' maneuverability in prior seasons, Dave's organization and decisiveness have enabled the Knicks to revamp their roster and join the elite teams of the NBA.

Dave's business acumen and understanding of NBA salaries forged the Knicks under the cap for the first time in history on Draft Day '92. . .June 25, 1992. New York took full advantage of that cap room, allowing the club to make key off-season roster moves: the acquisition of shooting guard extraordinaire Rolando Blackman from the Dallas Mavericks; obtaining swingman Tony Campbell from the Minnesota Timberwolves for a second round draft pick, and the blockbuster, three-team deal which brought versatile forward Charles Smith and veteran floor leader Doc Rivers to the Knicks for Mark Jackson and a first round pick.

Of course, adding head coach Pat Riley and personnel chief Ernie Grunfeld to form a powerful braintrust triumvirate was instrumental in the club's new direction.

Knicks fans enjoyed the exhilaration of the Checketts commitment as New York ousted the Pistons in a rugged first round series in '92, then extended the World Champion Bulls to a deciding seventh game in the conference semi-finals. Last season, the Knicks held the entire city spellbound with their first march to the Eastern Conference Finals in nearly two decades, and the Garden was rocking once more.

Believing that the tradition of the Knicks was an important part of the future, Dave brought back club patriarch Red Holzman in a consultant's role two years ago, and then zeroed in on the long overdue number retirement of Knicks backcourt legend Dick McGuire, acknowledging two fan favorites.

His concern for the community and New York City's youngsters is underlined by the expanded humanitarian effort including: the Coca-Cola Junior Knicks League presented by LA Gear, the Starter "It's Up To You" program and the New York All-Star Basketball Classic, among many others.

Checketts came to the Knickerbockers from the National Basketball Association, where he served as vice president, development since September, 1990. Dave was responsible for the successful execution and marketing of the NBA's two regular season games in Japan between the Utah Jazz and Phoenix Suns in Tokyo in 1990, and had been a consultant to the NBA for a year prior to those unprecedented international contests.

During a six-year tenure with the Jazz, which began in 1983, Checketts brought the team into prominence as one of the most efficient and successful organizations in the NBA.

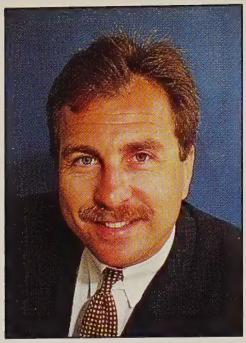
He completed a meteoric rise to president of the Jazz in 1984, just one year following the launch of his professional sports career and at age 28 becoming the youngest chief executive in the NBA. Under Checketts' leadership as president and general manager, Utah was transformed into a successful operation both on and off the court.

During the Checketts regime, the Jazz captured two Midwest Division titles, drafted All-Stars Karl Malone and John Stockton, and enjoyed an economic turnaround as one of the NBA's model franchises, gaining prominence in all phases of basketball. Checketts took a team with a $6 million debt and $2 million annual losses and turned it into a high profit-making organization.

Dave joined the Jazz from the Boston-based management consulting firm, Bain and Company, spending part of his tenure advising a group of investors about the management and financial end of purchasing an NBA franchise. While the group's bid for a franchise was rejected, the effort provided Checketts with his NBA cornerstone. That expertise about the League, its teams and their operation practices caught the attention of high-echelon members of the NBA, including future commissioner David Stern.

Checketts earned his undergraduate degree from the University of Utah in communications and finance, after earlier attending Brigham Young University, where he made the basketball team as a walk-on candidate. He later gained his MBA from BYU.

Dave and his wife Deb are parents of six children: Spencer (15), Katie (14), Nathaniel (11), Andrew (8), Ben (6) and Elizabeth (1). They reside in Connecticut. Dave enjoys playing basketball with his boys, skiing and golf.



ERNIE GRUNFELD

VICE PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER

Ernie Grunfeld continues to forge his mark as one of the top basketball executives in the NBA.

Following two successful seasons as vice president of player personnel, Grunfeld was promoted to General Manager on July 21, 1993 by club president Dave Checketts on the heels of the Knicks' club record 60-win campaign.

The co-architect of the Atlantic Division Champion roster had wheeled and dealed last off-season to add Charles Smith, Rolando Blackman, Doc Rivers, Tony Campbell and Hubert Davis to the already strong nucleus of Patrick Ewing, Charles Oakley, John Starks, Anthony Mason and Greg Anthony, resulting in the best record in the Eastern Conference.

"The promotion is an acknowledgement of the job Ernie has done in building the talent base of the franchise, and it is a title of respect as the key basketball man in the organization," says Checketts. "Ernie is committed to the franchise and the city and to bringing an NBA title to New York.

"Ernie is the key judge of talent in our organization," continues Checketts. "He's the one who thinks of the deals and puts them together. He then brings his ideas to me and we go from there. Ernie is one of the very best at what he does."

Grunfeld, 38, also heads the Knicks' college draft operation, oversees all player personnel decisions and trades, and participates in all key basketball operations in his 11th season with the Knicks. He has been a member of the Knicks family for over a decade — since 1982 — as a player, broadcaster, coach and executive.

Ernie developed and oversees the Doral Arrowwood New York Summer League and the Gatorade Knicks Summer Basketball Camps, both in their second seasons this past summer.

"The Knickerbockers have been an important part of my life for as long as I can remember," says Grunfeld. "I enjoy and thrive on the challenge of having a significant role in making the Knicks one of the most successful organizations in the League. We have built a positive, winning attitude, and do everything in a first class way to give this city a team they can be proud of."

Grunfeld certainly has the credentials to hold the chief personnel post with the Knicks, having 16 years in the League under his belt. He was an assistant coach under Stu Jackson in 1989-90, spent the 1990-91 season as the club's director of administration and then was named vice president, player personnel on April 23, 1991. He is widely respected throughout the League, and if the first two years are any indication, his future is equally bright.

Grunfeld enjoyed a nine-year career in the NBA with the Milwaukee Bucks, Kansas City Kings and finally the hometown Knickerbockers, including five playoff seasons. Ernie accumulated 5,124 lifetime points and was highly regarded as an astute performer on the court. He is well-schooled in the game, having played professionally under Don Nelson, Cotton Fitzsimmons and Hubie Brown. He was also coached by Dean Smith on the 1976 gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic basketball team, his greatest thrill as a player.

For the next three seasons (1986-87 through 1988-89), Grunfeld shared his wisdom and savvy with Knick fans as color analyst alongside Jim Karvellas on the MSG Radio Network.

The former star and New York City product from Forest Hills High School was an outstanding outside threat as a pro. The 48-percent career shooter twice poured in his career high 30 points, including a lifetime best 13-for-16 from the field in a March 25, 1985 contest against the Bucks as a Knick.

Ernie first entered the NBA in 1977, after a stellar four-year college career at the University of Tennessee, completing his tenure as the Volunteers' all-time leading scorer with 2,249 points, a mark since broken. His 22.3 ppg average helped to earn him All-America recognition in all four seasons at Tennessee, where he teamed with former Knick Bernard King to form the outstanding "Bernie & Ernie Show".

Born in Romania on April 24, 1955, Ernie was also the first prepster to represent the United States at the Maccabiah Games in Israel. In July, 1989, at the same time he was appointed a Knick assistant coach, Grunfeld was in Tel Aviv coaching the United States "Masters Team" (over 35) at the Maccabiah Games. Ernie traveled to Hungary in the summer of '90 with an NBA contingent which included Hall of Fame coach Dr. Jack Ramsay, giving a coaches' clinic in Hungarian to rave reviews.

Grunfeld's wife Nancy heads In The Paint Basketball Gear, a sports clothing line of active wear for athletes and fans alike. The Grunfelds reside in Franklin Lakes, N.J., with their two children, Rebecca (12) and Danny (9).

PAT RILEY
HEAD COACH

Underlined by 1993 IBM NBA Coach of the Year honors and his ninth All-Star coaching assignment in Salt Lake City, Pat Riley continued to illustrate why he is one of the truly outstanding coaches of his time.

In his second season at the helm of the Knicks, Riley's squad won the Atlantic Division crown with a sparkling 60-22 regular season record, the best in the Eastern Conference and equalling the all-time club mark previously set by the 1969-70 World Champions.

All of New York was abuzz as the Knicks marched to the Eastern Conference Finals for the first time in two decades and a date with the two-time defending champion Chicago Bulls. Up two games to none, the Knicks could not thwart the late rush of the soon-to-be-crowned "Three-Peating" Bulls, but it was quite a run nonetheless. The ultimate pearl eluded the Knicks, but the taste of success and unquenched challenge will have Riley's squad thirstier and a year wiser this season.

Other Riley team and personal landmarks in '92-'93 included: the best defense in the NBA at a stingy 95.4 ppg allowed; improving his career record to a sparkling 644-247 (.723), the best winning percentage in NBA history; chalking up his 11th straight 50+ win season in 11 tries, as well as an NBA record sixth career 60+ win campaign; and moving past Doug Moe (628) into 11th place on the all-time NBA coaches win list on March 21, when New York registered a 115-96 rout over San Antonio. Knick patriarch Red Holzman, tenth on the all-time win list with 696, awaits Riley this season.

For Riley, the NBA Playoffs are also synonymous with success. He owns more playoff victories than any coach in NBA history with a 117-59 (.665) career post-season mark. His winning percentage of .665 is the all-time best for coaches who have won at least 60 post-season games. He surpassed the legendary Red Auerbach's 99 playoff wins in 1990.

The 48-year old legend was "Coach of the Eighties" when he led the Los Angeles Lakers to four World Championships. The Knicks could not have made a better choice to take the team into a new era and the quest for the ultimate goal.

During nine seasons as head coach of the Laker dynasty from 1981-82 through 1989-90, Riley became the all-time winningest percentage head coach in NBA history with a remarkable 533-194 record for a .733 winning percentage.

The Lakers finished atop the Pacific Division in each of those nine campaigns, never posting less than 50 victories, and five times recording 60 or more wins. In 1987-88, the Lakers set an NBA record by becoming the first club in history to record a fourth straight 60-win season.

In his very first season as the Los Angeles head coach, just two years after leaving Chick Hearn's broadcast booth to become a Laker assistant, Riley was to secure his first championship ring as a head coach and set the tone for future accomplishments. Riley piloted the Lakers to NBA titles in 1982, 1985, 1987 and 1988. His four championships as a head coach rank third in NBA annals to Auerbach's nine and John Kundla's five. In all, Pat has been a part of six NBA Championship teams: four as head coach, one as assistant coach (1979-80 Lakers) and one as a player (1971-72 Lakers).

In 1989-90, his ninth season at the helm of Los Angeles, Pat became the 13th and fastest NBA coach to record 500 victories, and won the first of his two NBA Coach of the Year awards.

After a one-year hiatus from coaching in 1990-91, when he served as co-host of "NBA Showtime" on NBC, Riley's thirst for the competition and quest for a championship brought him to the Knicks at a May 31, 1991 appointment.

On his philosophies: "One of my basic philosophies is that you're either with us or against us in reference to the team. Is the team with the management and coaching staff and will they do whatever it takes to be a winner? We're in it together. A house divided will not stand. You're either in or out. That is the essence of a team.

"Second, the only way an individual can ever achieve the ultimate success is to be a part of the team. The most difficult thing

DICK HARTER
ASSISTANT COACH

Watch the Knicks on defense, and you're watching a team in the Dick Harter tradition.

The results have been astounding. Under Harter's guidance, the Knicks' tenacious defense recorded a League-low 95.4 ppg allowed in 1992-93, the franchise's best defensive point figure in almost 40 years (since they allowed 92.6 ppg in 1954-55). New York's defense also led the League with a .426 opposition shooting percentage, 52 opposition games under 100 points and 24 contests under 90 points. The previous season (1991-92), the Knicks' "D" recorded 97.7 ppg allowed, the second-best figure in the League.

That's the brand of defense that has been a Harter hallmark throughout the veteran coach's career.

"Coach Riley's organization and demands for hard work make the Knick defense as strong as any team's in the League," says the 63-year old Harter, a veteran of three decades of coaching on both the pro and college levels. "To me, the gratifying part of the defense is that it's aggressive, very team-oriented from the viewpoint that everyone helps each other, and is based upon the execution of fundamentals rather than tricks and gimmicks.

"I think the fact that our defense is sound and based on execution enabled us to have an even more impressive year defensively in 1992-93. It's going to be a real challenge to improve on our defensive results from last season, but if improvement does take place, it'll be based on the hard work and fundamentals that Coach Riley stresses."

Currently in his third season with the Knicks, Harter joined the coaching staff on August 2, 1991. At the time of his hiring, he had just finished a year-long stint as TV color commentator for the Detroit Pistons.

After an illustrious college coaching career, Harter made his NBA debut when he joined Chuck Daly's staff at Detroit as an assistant in 1983-84. In his three years with Detroit (1983-84 through 1985-86), the Pistons would break a seven-year non-playoff dry spell and post three straight 45+ win seasons, beginning the upswing that would climax in back-to-back world titles in 1989 and 1990. After his Detroit stint, Harter served for two seasons (1986-87 and 1987-88) as an assistant coach with the Indiana Pacers under Dr. Jack Ramsay.

On June 3, 1988, Dick was named the first head coach of the Charlotte Hornets, and guided the Hornets during the first year-and-a-half of their franchise history.

Prior to his NBA tenure, Harter enjoyed an 18-year college head coaching career, compiling a 295-193 (.601) record with Rider College (1965-66); Pennsylvania, his alma mater (1966-67 through 1970-71); Oregon (1971-72 through 1977-78) and Penn State (1978-79 through 1982-83).

Harter's Penn teams went a combined 53-3 during his final two seasons there. He earned Eastern Basketball Coach of the Year honors in 1971, when Penn ranked third in the nation at season's end with a 28-1 mark.

During the winter of 1992, Harter became the first former Penn head coach to be elected to the Philadelphia Big 5 Hall of Fame. The Penn head coaching fraternity includes four men who are currently working in the NBA: Harter, the Nets' Daly, and Minnesota's Jack McCloskey and Bob Weinhauer.

"To be the first of that group honored by the Big 5 Hall of Fame is an honor without compare," says Harter.

Harter's Oregon clubs featured a tenacious style of play that earned them the nickname "The Kamikaze Kids", a group which earned a permanent niche in the game's history by snapping UCLA's legendary 98-game home winning streak at Pauley Pavilion with a 65-45 win on February 21, 1976. Overall, Dick owns a combined head coaching record of 319-287 (.526).

Dick is a 1953 graduate of Penn, with a degree in education. He was a three-year letterman in basketball and helped lead his team to two Ivy League titles. After a three-year stint in the Marines, he coached at Germantown Academy in Philadelphia for two years. He then spent seven years with Penn's athletic department before he was named head coach at Rider in 1965-66.

Born on October 14, 1930, Dick is a native of Pottstown, Pa. He and his wife Mari live in Darien, Conn,. during the season and in Barton, Vt., in the summer months. He is the father of five children: Linda (38), Richard Jr. (37), Jim (33), Robyn (31) and Kerry (28). Following in his dad's footsteps, Jim in his first year as an assistant coach at Pace University, after spending two years as an assistant at Tulane.

JEFF VAN GUNDY
ASSISTANT COACH

The senior member of the Knickerbockers' bench staff, Jeff Van Gundy continues to forge a reputation as one of the game's rising young coaching talents with an ever-growing list of impressive credentials.

Although only 31 years old, Van Gundy is in his fifth season as a Knicks assistant coach. Jeff's main duties include working with perimeter players, individual work with players both before and after practices, and pre-game preparation and scouting.

Coaching in the NBA has been a constant learning experience for Van Gundy ever since he joined the Knicks on July 28, 1989, after serving as an assistant under Bob Wenzel at Rutgers in 1988-89.

"I've been very fortunate to have worked for several outstanding head coaches, both in college and here with the Knicks," says the California native. "I've learned quite a bit from all of them, but there is no greater model for a young coach than Pat Riley.

"The most pride I've taken in my four years here is now being part of a team that has a chance to win a championship. I especially feel good about our co-captains, Patrick Ewing and Charles Oakley, who are the only two players left from when I joined the team. They weathered some tough times, and have worked so hard to help build this team up to championship caliber. They are two true professionals.

"Dave Checketts, Ernie Grunfeld and Coach Riley have also done a great job in creating a winning environment from top to bottom. All of us, players and coaches, have been able to see our talents flourish under their direction."

Prior to his one-season Rutgers stint, Jeff served on the coaching staff at Providence College for two seasons. In 1986-87, he was a graduate assistant under Rick Pitino in the Friars' Final Four season. The following year, 1987-88, he served as an assistant coach under Gordon Chiesa.

A 1985 magna cum laude graduate of Nazareth College in Rochester, N.Y., Van Gundy played point guard for two seasons and helped the 1983-84 squad to the NCAA Division III Eastern Regional title. Jeff's coaching career began in 1985-86, when he was head coach at McQuaid Jesuit High School in Rochester. He accepted the position at Providence a year later.

Jeff is the latest link in a proud family tradition of coaching.

"The foundation for all my love of the game came from being around my dad and my brother, who are, as Coach Riley would say, `lifers' in coaching," says Jeff.

His father, Bill Van Gundy, has been in coaching for over three decades and is currently in his 11th season as head coach at Genesee Community College in upstate Batavia, NY. His brother Stan is in his second season at the University of Wisconsin, and his first as associate head coach under former Knicks head coach Stu Jackson. Prior to joining Jackson with the Badgers, Stan served four years as head coach at the University of Lowell (Mass.), and one season (1987-88) as an assistant at Fordham under Nick Macarchuk.

Born on January 19, 1962 in Hemet, Cal., Jeff and his wife Kim have been married for four years. Jeff and Kim live in Cross River, NY, along with their beloved feline friend, Cheekers the cat. Jeff and Kim are avid tennis buffs and during September are frequently spotted at the U.S. Open at Flushing Meadow.

BOB SALMI

ASSISTANT COACH/ VIDEO COORDINATOR

Few men in the NBA are on the "cutting edge" of coaching technology more than Bob Salmi. If it's the latest in video or computer coaching equipment, chances are that Bob has mastered it before others have even heard of it.

Now in his fifth year with the Knicks, Salmi continues to be responsible for all Knicks and opponent game video, along with overseeing computer statistical analysis for the coaching staff, all major parts of advance scouting and game preparation. The state-of-the-art computer video systems used by Bob both at Purchase College and at the Garden help keep the Knicks in the forefront of the NBA's expanding video and computer revolution.

"As computers become more commonplace, not just in the NBA but in day-to-day living, I'm glad this responsibility was thrust on me," says the 33-year old Salmi. "I've been able to help our organization be at the front of the pack regarding new equipment and software.

"This has enabled us to digest great amounts of information in just a short time, and with additional advancements in hardware and software, our `hunger' for information and knowledge can be satisfied more easily in the future."

Salmi's input and computer expertise was also instrumental in the development of the new IBM ThinkPad software, developed exclusively for use by all NBA teams beginning this year.

In recent seasons, Salmi's duties have expanded to include more on-the-floor coaching during practices and games, as well as advance scouting.

"Our computer advancements have allowed more time for me to be on the floor coaching," says Bob. "I'm grateful to Coach Riley for giving me the opportunity to do more and more of that. Coaching is what I've always wanted to do, and there's no better teacher than Pat."

Prior to his arrival with the Knicks in 1989-90, Salmi spent five years with the Philadelphia 76ers. His duties with the Sixers included advance scouting, college scouting, video operations, shooting instruction and directing the Sixers' summer basketball camp. At Philadelphia, Bob worked under head coaches Matt Goukas and Jim Lynam.

A 6-foot-7 native of Stroudsburg, Pa., Salmi began his college coaching career as an assistant at Kings College in 1984 under Kenny Atkins, followed by a year at Muhlenberg College in 1985 with Steve Moore.

Salmi started at guard for Stroudsburg High School and played college ball at Florida Southern from 1982-84. He helped lead Florida Southern to a runnerup spot in the NCAA Division II Championships in 1982.

Bob was born on April 26, 1960. He and his wife Erin celebrated their third wedding anniversary in August. The Salmis are parents of 13-year old Kim and one-year old Alexandra. The Salmi family lives in Stamford, Conn. Bob is an avid golf and tennis player in his rare spare moments.

JOHN CIRILLO

VICE PRESIDENT, PUBLIC RELATIONS

Now is his tenth season as a key member of the Knicks' front office team, vice president, public relations John Cirillo can look back with pride on a decade filled with trailblazing innovations and spectacular accomplishments.

The 1993-94 season will mark Cirillo's third as vice president, public relations. Following seven campaigns as the Knicks' director of communications, a position he assumed in August, 1984, Cirillo was elevated to his current position by club president Dave Checketts on May 21, 1991.

In addition to his public and community relations duties, Cirillo assists senior management in a wide variety of administrative responsibilities in all areas of the organization, and works closely with Checketts and vice president and general manager Ernie Grunfeld in the day-to-day operation of the club.

Cirillo, 37, develops and implements long-term strategies and goals in public and media relations, via a work ethic and philosophy that has earned him a reputation as perhaps the most dedicated and innovative public relations executive in the NBA. He is also the driving force behind the club's ever-expanding community relations efforts with Cal Ramsey, whom he brought back to the Knicks as director of community relations in 1991.

Over the past two years, Cirillo has developed and coordinated a variety of new community programs which have thrust the Knicks into the forefront of local community service, especially the Starter "It's Up To You" education program, produced with the cooperation of the city's public school system. He has served as executive producer of the two Stay in School "Jams", held at a packed Paramount Theatre.

John has also been instrumental in the formation of the Coca-Cola Junior Knicks League, presented by LA Gear; the Doral Arrowwood New York Summer League, and the club's involvement with the Boys Brotherhood Republic, the longtime Lower East Side boys' sanctuary. In addition, he has been a guiding hand behind the "New York All-Star Basketball Classic" for the benefit of Wheelchair Charities, Inc., an annual September all-star event that draws enthusiastic crowds to the Garden.

"John has taken on a role within this franchise that's as important as almost any other role," says Checketts. "What John does has impact on hundreds of thousands of people every week. Not only in seeing that the press is served well, but that our efforts to extend ourselves into the community are well-done and aggressive.

"You can't just say you're committed to community relations. You have to knock on doors and build relationships, and show that your efforts are so much more than just hype, that they really have an effect on people. This is what John does."

Highly respected throughout the NBA and New York sports circles, Cirillo was a charter member of the NBA Public Relations Advisory Board for the first three years of its existence. The board establishes and implements league-wide public relations policy. He was honored by the national media with the Howie McHugh/Marc Splaver Award as the NBA's Eastern Conference PR Man of the Year in 1988-89. In 1991, he was cited with the coveted "Good Guy" Award by the New York City Press Photographers Association.

A native of Brooklyn, NY, Cirillo helped to launch to Knicks' annual "Summer Caravan" in 1986, expanding it to include the anti-drug/stay-in-school programs in New York City. In 1988, he helped establish the Knicks' annual "Welcome Home Dinner", and has been a driving force for the event which in its first five years has helped raise more than $400,000 in the fight against juvenile diabetes, and celebrated its sixth year on November 1, 1993 at the world famous Waldorf-Astoria.

His recognition of Knicks and NBA tradition has been manifested in moving and memorable Garden tributes to Julius Erving (the nationally-known "Is There A Doctor In The House?" event), Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, and Knick all-timers Dr. Dick Barnett, Red Holzman, Earl Monroe, Harry Gallatin and Dick McGuire. He has been instrumental in the development of the Sharp Electronics "Knicks Legends Game" as one of the most looked-forward-to events of the season.

Prior to his Knicks tenure, John was public relations director at Yonkers Raceway from 1981 to 1984, working under track president Tim Rooney of the prestigious Rooney clan. He was also the backup racecaller and occasional co-host of "Racing from Yonkers", formerly seen on WOR-TV in New York. He was honored as the Standardbred Owners' "Good Guy of the Year" for his contributions to New York racing in 1982.

Cirillo began his association with racing in 1979 as editor, columnist and general manager of the Harness Line program publications at Yonkers and Roosevelt Raceways. John enjoyed brief stints with Major League Baseball Productions and Sports Phone early in his career.

The graduate of Fordham with a BA in Communications initiated his sports career during his college days as sports director and play-by-play announcer at WFUV Radio, while serving as a force behind the Fordham Hockey Club in a variety of administrative capacities including club president.

John and his wife Fran reside in Chappaqua, NY. Cirillo is known for his culinary expertise, and is a dedicated fitness buff. He enjoys a Macanudo on occasion and lists the works of John Irving (especially the gripping A Prayer for Owen Meany) and William Diehl (most recently Primal Fear) as his personal favorites.

FRANK MURPHY

VICE PRESIDENT AND BUSINESS MANAGER

Entering his fourth season with the Knickerbockers, Frank Murphy has firmly become established in handling and overseeing the business and financial matters of the team.

In addition to his responsibilities in the budgeting, expense control and financial planning and strategy area, Murphy also works hand-in-hand with club president Dave Checketts and vice president and general manager Ernie Grunfeld on salary cap matters and structuring of player compensation agreements. The business affairs staff has developed and maintains a number of operational and financial reporting systems, including complex and detailed floor performance, financial evaluation and salary cap systems for all NBA players and teams.

"Every NBA franchise in this day needs what I affectionately call a `capologist'; someone who can understand the hundreds of little rules and exceptions," says Checketts. "Frank has become the Knicks' `capologist' and he's one of the best in the League."

Frank also acts as liaison with the Garden Season Subscription Sales and Services Group and is responsible for maintaining team communications with season and mini-plan subscribers. Murphy looks back at the past year with a great feeling of pride and accomplishment. Almost on a par with the team's performance was the excitement of being involved with the franchise's continued growth and development. In the team's commitment to increased fan-team involvement, Murphy points to the positive reception by Knicks fans to last year's regular season road trips to Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia, and the sold-out Memorial Day excursion to Chicago for two playoff games. He is now in the planning stage for an even more exciting program for the upcoming season.

Murphy has extensive experience in financial and sales positions. He came to the Garden in October 1990, after serving as chief operating officer of CRC Information Systems, a leading computer marketing research company, since January, 1990.

Prior to his tenure at CRC, Frank served as executive vice president of Coin Depot Corporation from 1985 to 1990. He has also held positions with The Entertainment Channel, the Acton Corporation and Standard Brands, and also served as an independent management consultant.

Born and raised in Brooklyn, Murphy played his high school basketball at St. Michael's. In his rare spare moments, he has been known to play a round of golf with his golfing partner, Dick McGuire. A 1962 graduate of Pace University with a BBA in accounting and administration, Frank and his wife Geraldine live in Port Washington, NY. The Murphys have three children: Theresa (27), who has presented the Murphys with their first two grandchildren, Tyler Michael (2) and Spencer Robert Wolf, who arrived this past June; Chrissy (22), who recently graduated from Johnson and Wales University and is now a manager in the hotel industry, and Sean (20), a student at St. Bonaventure University.

PAM HARRIS
DIRECTOR OF MARKETING

The Knickerbockers' resurgence over the past two seasons hasn't been confined to the court. Over that same period, Pam Rothaus Harris and her staff have earned a reputation as one of the NBA's most creative and innovative marketing teams.

"When Jerry Seinfeld and Kramer are arguing over Knicks tickets, and Howard Stern spends a whole morning analyzing our 'Go NY Go' playoff song, then you know that coming to a Knicks game has become a true New York phenomenon!", says Pam, now in her third year as the Knicks' director of marketing.

"Our goal is to make every Knicks home game as exciting and entertaining as possible. We try to balance the music, dance and promoticnal activity to create an experience that matches the sophisticated New York mentality. The environment has to complement the true business at hand. . .our quest for an NBA Championship."

Harris oversees all of the club's marketing efforts, including game entertainment, the Knicks City Dancers, team advertising, sponsor-related promotional and community service programs. In addition, she plays a key role in developing the club's season ticket and mini-plan sales strategy. With the prospect of a sold-out 1993-94 season, one of the club's main thrusts is to create ways to enhance the experience of being a Knicks ticketholder. "These fans are partners in the Knicks organization," says Harris. "They're the lifeblood. We're learning how to make them feel like an integral part of the team."

Community service is one of the most important marketing tools for the Knicks. "No matter what some NBA stars may say, players are role models for kids in the community," says Pam. "When the Knicks players are out there talking about their backgrounds, the importance of getting an education, about staying off drugs, the kids of the city are listening.

"The youth of this city need so much help. The Knicks have the ability to make a big impact, and it is our responsibility to try and give back as much as possible."

Pam is very involved in the Knicks pro-education "It's Up to You" program, sponsored by Starter, which rewards ninth grade students for improved achievement in school. The Junior Knicks League, co-sponsored by Coca-Cola and L.A. Gear, helps provide after-school activities for nearly 7,000 young boys and girls, and offers academic tutoring along with basketball instruction.

Harris has ten years of marketing and advertising experience. Prior to joining the Knicks in the summer of 1991, she was a brand manager on the Excedrin product line at Bristol-Myers Squibb. Prior to that, she worked on Close Up Toothpaste and Pond's Cold Cream at Chesebrough-Pond's. She has also been involved in marketing at Lever Brothers and Grey Advertising.

Harris is the holder of a B.A. degree in International Relations from Stanford University, and an M.B.A. from the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania. She was born in Washington D.C., and was raised in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil and Mexico City, Mexico, but spent the winter months in New York City, where she became a loyal Knicks fan since her childhood days.

ED TAPSCOTT

DIRECTOR OF ADMINISTRATION

Ed Tapscott's two seasons as the Knicks' director of administration have been charted by an itinerary that is anything but stagnant.

You can find him at the Knicks offices at 2 Penn Plaza. Or out on the road, scouting college talent. Or at any of the club's summer youth camp locations. Or at Purchase College. Or at the Summer League in White Plains. Or even in a rare day at home in Virginia. Or anywhere this multi-faceted man's talents are needed.

"The two years I've been here have been a very exciting time for the Knicks," says the 40-year old Tapscott, who joined the Knicks on the eve of the 1991-92 season. "We've gone from the expectation stage to challenging for an NBA title. I've been extemely fortunate to have a job of great variety, and I look forward to continuing to contribue as much as I can toward an eventual NBA Championship."

Tapscott is involved in college scouting, contributing to CBA and European scouting, and other administrative responsibilities.

For the second straight summer, Ed spearheaded the Knicks' involvement in two of the club's major off-season projects: the expanded Doral Arrowwood New York Summer League in White Plains, and the Gatorade Knicks Summer Basketball Camp, which this year covered four locations throughout the tri-state area with an enrollment of more than 1,000 youngsters.

"Our summer activities greatly expanded this year with both the Doral Arrowwood New York Summer League and the Gatorade Knicks Summer Basketball Camp enjoying fantastic responses in their second seasons," says Ed. "Hopefully, we were able to bring even more fans, especially youngsters, into the growing Knicks family."

Well-versed in various phases of the game, both on and off the court, Ed joined the Knicks from Advantage International in Washington, DC, where he had served as a player representative for a year-and-a-half.

Prior to joining Advantage International, Tapscott was head basketball coach at American University for eight seasons (1982-83 through 1989-90). In his first season, he guided American to victory over Patrick Ewing-led Georgetown, the last time a locally-based team defeated the mighty Hoyas. Ed posted 20-win seasons in both his first and last years at American (20-10 in 1982-83, 21-9 in 1989-90).

Building still another career as a lawyer, the 1975 Tufts University graduate earned a masters degree in political science from Tufts in 1977 and a Juris Doctor degree from American in 1981. Playing for current Texas coach Tom Penders, Tapscott was a three-year hoop letterman at Tufts. He also served as a Tufts graduate assistant for two years, and as an assistant at American for four seasons.

Born on June 11, 1953 in Washington, DC, Ed and his wife Janis have been married nine years and live with their two-year old daughter, Logan Alexis, in McLean, Va. Ed enjoys tennis, photography, biking, and struggling with his golf game in his spare time.

CAL RAMSEY

DIRECTOR OF COMMUNITY RELATIONS

To so many of this city's young people, in so many ways and for so many reasons, Cal Ramsey is New York City Basketball.

As a main force behind the Knickerbockers' expanded and far-reaching community relations efforts, Ramsey is an ever-present figure among the city's youngsters, making countless appearances on behalf of the Knicks and helping to coordinate the club's never-ending involvement with the young.

"Ideally, what we must do is impress upon young people the importance of attending school regularly, and avoiding negative elements," says Ramsey, now in his third season as the Knicks' director of community relations.

"Young people must be taught the value of respect, and that life is not to be taken lightly, especially in light of the violence that sometimes surrounds us. In all our efforts, we are constantly emphasizing the message to stay in school, say no to drugs, and, above all, understand and respect the value of human life."

One of the city's best-known and most-respected sports figures, Ramsey was named to his current position on May 21, 1991. As the Knicks' goodwill ambassador within the community, his duties include an emphasis in education, and in anti-drug and stay-in-school messages aimed at the city's youth.

"I always end my talks with the same line, one that sums up all that we stand for," says Cal. "I say, 'Play as hard as you can. But as hard as you play, study a little bit harder.'"

During his tenure, Ramsey has been instrumental in inaugurating such successful efforts as the Starter "It's Up to You" program (conducted in conjunction with the city's public school system), and last April's star-studded Starter "It's Up to You" Jam at the Paramount.

Ramsey, 56, has been an integral part of the Knicks scene for the past two decades. For ten seasons (1972-73 through 1981-82), he served as the team's TV analyst, working alongside Bob Wolff, Dick Stockton, Andy Musser, Marv Albert and Jim Karvellas. For the past eight years, he has been instrumental in the success of the Knicks Summer Caravan as a coordinator and speaker.

Since 1985, Ramsey has served his alma mater, New York University, as both assistant director of alumni relations and as an assistant basketball coach. He is also commissioner of the Foot Locker SlamFest and the Budweiser Three-on-Three Halfcourt Games, as well as a consultant to Reebok. As part of his association with Foot Locker, Cal accompanied the International Cup team (coached by Lou Carnesecca) to France and Holland in the summer of 1992.

In 1986, Cal was appointed chairman of the New York City Sports Commission by then-Mayor Edward Koch. This season will also mark his third year as color commentator on St. John's hoop broadcasts on WFAN.

A graduate of Commerce (now Brandeis) High School, Cal was a three-year basketball letterman at NYU. He earned all-Metro honors in three seasons and was named to the Helms All-America Team in 1959. A member of the Scholastic Honor Society, he graduated from NYU with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1959.

Drafted in the second round by St. Louis in 1959, Cal played two NBA seasons (1959-60 and 1960-61) with the Hawks, Knicks and Syracuse, averaging 7.9 ppg in 13 career games (including seven contests as a Knick in 1959-60). After a knee injury cut short his playing career, Ramsey embarked on a new role as a teacher in the city's public school system, including a stint as acting assistant principal at I.S. 201 in Manhattan in 1968-69.

Cal is also heavily involved in the Special Olympics and has received numerous citations for his community service work. A native of Selma, Ala., Cal lives in upper Manhattan.

MIKE SAUNDERS

TRAINER

He has logged more years, traveled more miles and tended to more players — 99 to be exact — than any other trainer in Knicks history. But to hear Mike Saunders tell it, this season, his 16th with the team, has all the aspects of a maiden voyage.

"I regard myself as a rookie again this year," says the native New Yorker. "I finished my first 15 years and now I'm starting on my next 15. I'm bringing the enthusiasm of a rookie into this season."

Saunders joined the club for the 1978-79 campaign, succeeding the legendary Danny Whelan, who put in 11 seasons and tended to both Knicks championship teams. Prior to Mike's arrival, Don Friedrichs had the longest run of any Knick trainer: 12 seasons (1951-52 through 1962-63). Entering the 1993-94 season, only Atlanta's Joe O'Toole, Indiana's David Craig, Sacramento's Bill Jones, Utah's Don Sparks, Phoenix' Joe Proski, Seattle's Frank Furtado and Washington's John Lally have longer training tenures with their current clubs than Saunders.

Mike's main task is to keep the Knicks fit and healthy. He also handles the details of the club's demanding travel schedule, including the strong emphasis on charter flights over the past few seasons. As in the past, Saunders also oversees the daily operation of the Knicks' practice facility at Purchase College, which has been totally renovated and refurbished for '93-'94, including a brand new athletic training and physical therapy center.

"Our Purchase training base is now a state-of-the-art facility with the finest in equipment and rehabilitation products," says the enthusiastic Saunders. "It's first class in every way."

A Registered Physical Therapist, Mike served as trainer for the East team at the 1986 All-Star Game in Dallas. Saunders' long run of service was interrupted for six weeks in early 1990 when multiple facial fractures suffered in a car accident put the popular trainer on the sidelines.

Saunders is a member of the American Physical Therapy Association, the National Athletic Trainers Association and the American College of Sports Medicine. He is a consultant to the Sports Medicine Department at the New York Hospital for Joint Diseases-Orthopedic Institute, where he delivers a monthly lecture series to high school coaches and runs a two-week camp for high school students interested in sports medicine. For the past eight summers, he has served as Coordinator of the Student Athletic Training Program in conjuction with New York City's Board of Education, teaching sports medicine. He also conducts an annual clinic for the American College of Sports Medicine at the Garden.

Working with young people is a role that Saunders relishes.

"I believe anyone in the public eye is a role model, and I always try to conduct myself as if young and impressionable people are watching what I do," says Mike.

Prior to joining the Knicks, Saunders served as trainer at John Jay College. He was also involved with several area pro teams, including acting as trainer for the soccer Cosmos during their 1975 European-Caribbean tour and for the U.S. National Soccer team in 1976-77.

A product of the New York City Public School system, Mike is a graduate of Newtown High School in Queens, and received a degree in physical education at CCNY, before completing his education at NYU's School of Physical Therapy.

Saunders is an avid sports and show business buff and has an extensive collection of memorabilia, centering on the New York Yankees and his all-time idol, Red Sox Hall of Famer Ted Williams. He also has acquired over 100 game-worn major league caps, including those from such defunct teams as the St. Louis Browns, Washington Senators, and the fabled "scrambled eggs" hat worn by the ill-fated Seattle Pilots.

And, as has been well-documented, he's a devotee of the unmatched music of Frank Sinatra, which can often be heard wafting out of the training rooms both at SUNY and at the Garden. Mike's career as a crooner and his dedication to the "Chairman of the Board" was the subject of a CBS-TV feature aired during the 1989 Playoffs.

Saunders has devoted many hours toward helping the handicapped. He's the longtime co-chairman of the annual Easter Seals Shootout at the Garden, and has also been involved with the Special Olympics and the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Labor Day Telethon.

Mike and his wife Susan are proud parents of seven-year old daughter Ashley, and welcomed the newest addition to their family, Jeffrey Dillon Saunders, on July 12, 1993. The Saunders family lives in Pomona, NY.

TIM WALSH
ASSISTANT TRAINER

Currently in his 10th season as the Knicks' assistant trainer, Tim Walsh completes his first decade with the Knicks by looking behind. . .and ahead.

"I hope that the momentum we established last season will carry over to this season, and that we can continue to grow as a team and accomplish our ultimate goal, which is to win the NBA Championship," says the 31-year old Walsh.

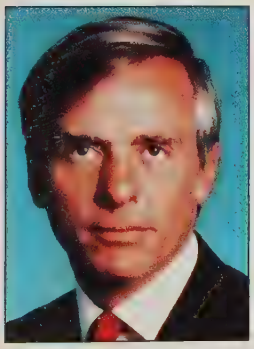
Tim works alongside Mike Saunders to form the Knicks' "Champion Healers", a two-deep training staff that's as skilled and qualified as any in the NBA. Among Tim's many responsibilities are: setting up the locker rooms at the Garden, on the road and at practice; preparing all practice facilities; the purchasing, distribution, transportation and repairing of all equipment, and supervision of the Knicks' game-night ballboy crew, as well as with assisting Saunders in the prevention and treatment of all athletic injuries. Tim is ably assisted by a gamenight Garden staff headed by locker room attendant Mike Martinez.

Walsh is a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association, the American College of Sports Medicine and the National Strength Conditioners Association. He joined the Knicks in 1984, upon graduating from Upsala College with a B.S. Degree. He is currently working toward his Masters degree in sports medicine at Long Island University. Walsh was a student trainer while at Upsala.

In addition to his duties with the Knicks, Walsh served as trainer of the USBL's Staten Island Stallions in 1986 and 1987. He also worked at Walt Frazier's Basketball Camp and at the "Bernie and Ernie" All-Pro Basketball Camp conducted by former Knick Bernard King and current vice president and general manager Ernie Grunfeld. Tim has also handled the training duties for the Knicks' entry in the famed LA Summer League.

A native of Newark, N.J., Walsh attended Essex Catholic High School, where he was a two-time All-County catcher and team MVP as a senior. As a catcher at Upsala, he helped lead his team to three NCAA Division III Championship Tournaments.

Tim and his wife Kathy have been married for three years, and reside in Irvington, N.J. Tim lists the one person in history he would have most liked to have met as "my grandfather. I hope I can be as good a father as him, and as my own father." Tim's "fathering" career began on June 12, 1993, when he and Kathy celebrated the birth of their first child, Lauren Frances Walsh.



DR. NORMAN SCOTT
TEAM PHYSICIAN

One of the senior members of the Knickerbockers' support team, Dr. Norman Scott is in his 16th season as team physician.

Since 1991, Dr. Scott has been the director of the Insall-Scott-Kelly Institute for Orthopedics and Sports Medicine at Manhattan's Beth Israel Hospital. Prior to that, he had served for 14 years as Chief of Implant Services at Lenox Hill Hospital.

One of the country's most respected practitioners of sports medicine, Dr. Scott is presently working on his seventh book and is the author of over 100 published articles on a wide range of medical subjects. He performed the reconstructive surgeries on former Knicks Bernard King and Eddie Lee Wilkins, helping them resume their NBA careers following serious knee injuries.

In the summer of 1992, Dr. Scott served as team physician for the U.S. Olympic "Dream Team" at the Summer Olympics in Barcelona, and this past year held the same responsibilities at the USGA Open golf tournament at Baltusrol.

After graduating from the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Scott obtained his medical degree from Cornell University. He also served as team physician for the hockey Rangers for six seasons.

A native of Jersey City, N.J., Dr. Scott is married to Dr. Susan Craig Scott, a plastic surgeon who is based at both Lenox Hill Hospital and Beth Israel Hospital. The Scotts make their home in New York City with their three children, Eric (18), William (8) and Kelly (7). Norm is perhaps the most avid (and sometimes the only accomplished!) of the many golfers in the Knicks family.

JEFF NIX

ASSISTANT COACH/SCOUT

After serving last year on the Knicks' scouting staff, Jeff Nix assumes the title of assistant coach/scout for the 1993-94 season. His duties will once again center upon game preparation and advance scouting of NBA opponents.

"It's a great honor and a great learning experience to be associated with what I feel is the best head coach and best organization in pro sports," says the 35-year old Nix. "I fully enjoyed learning the ins and outs of the NBA and look forward to helping to contribute to the improvement of our team."

Nix joined the Knickerbockers on the eve of the 1992-93 season, after serving for five years (1987-88 through 1991-92) as an assistant coach at Notre Dame, serving under head coaches Digger Phelps and former Knicks mentor John MacLeod. At Notre Dame, Jeff was involved in a wide range of duties, including scouting, game and practice preparation, video analysis, and serving as director of the school's summer youth basketball camp. The Fighting Irish made three NCAA Tournament appearances and one NIT appearance during Jeff's tenure.

Prior to his stint with the Irish, Nix was an assistant coach at Canisius, his alma mater (1978-79 through 1980-81), St. Francis, Pa. (1981-82 through 1983-84), Loyola, Md. (1984-85) and Xavier (1985-86 through 1986-87).

A native of Portville, N.Y., Jeff was born on September 1, 1958. He graduated with a degree in business from Canisius in 1980, and was a two-year letterman on the basketball team. Nix, who obtained his airplane pilot's license in 1991, is single and lives in Notre Dame, Ind.

GREG BRITTENHAM

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COACH

In just two short years, the efforts of Greg Brittenham have been instrumental in forging the Knicks' reputation as perhaps the NBA's best-conditioned and most durable team.

In his third season as the team's strength and conditioning coach, Greg stresses power, nutrition, speed development, flexibility and conditioning in working with the players. During Greg's tenure, the Knicks have ranked among the League's best teams in the category of "games missed."

"As in the past, our goal is to continue to be the best-conditioned team in the NBA. Coach Riley and the New York fans will accept nothing less than that," says the 34-year old Brittenham.

To help meet that goal, Greg and most of the Knicks squad gathered in LaJolla, Cal., for an intensive two-week conditioning camp this past summer, an entirely voluntary program.

"We have the hardest-working team in the NBA and that was evident during our time in California," says Brittenham. "The players underwent strenuous workouts which included half-mile sprints in deep sand on the beaches near San Diego, running quarter-mile hills through cactus-laden trails, and strength and power drills, all geared toward speed and movement techniques. It was a uniquely challenging and very productive two weeks."

Prior to joining the Knicks, Greg served for three years as co-director of athletic development for the National Institute for Fitness and Sport in Indianapolis. Through the Institute, Greg worked with the Orlando Magic, Indiana Pacers, Denver Broncos and several major colleges. During his career in the training field, he has worked with the likes of Jim Courier, Mary Jo Fernandez, Dale Murphy, and world-class athletes in track and field and gymnastics. Greg has also produced several videotapes and authored published articles regarding the training of the "Total Athlete." In the summer of 1992, he participated in a youth camp in Alaska on behalf of the Klukwan Heritage Foundation, and spoke at the USOC Coaching Symposium in Colorado Springs.

Brittenham is the holder of an undergraduate degree from Kearney State (Neb.) College and a Masters degree in kinesiology, with an emphasis on motor development, from the University of Indiana. He is a member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association and the American Alliance of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance.

Greg's father Dean is a world-renowned 30-year veteran of the training field, and is currently consulting to several major league baseball teams. Born in Bakersfield, Cal., on April 25, 1959, Greg lives in Stamford, Conn., with his wife Luann and their children Max (6) and Rachel (2 1/2). He lists his favorite hobby as spending all of his free time with his family.

DICK MCGUIRE

DIRECTOR OF SCOUTING SERVICES

At precisely 10 a.m. on the morning of February 8, 1993, Dick McGuire finally got The Call.

The Call from Joe O'Brien, executive director of the Basketball Hall of Fame. The Call that told the Knicks legend that, after what seemed like decades of waiting, he had finally been elected to basketball's highest honor.

"It was a great, great honor," says the 67-year old hoop immortal. "Believe me, I know how great an honor it was. For a long time I didn't think it was possible. I know how great the fellows are who are in there. I never dreamed it would happen to me."

McGuire's election to the Springfield pantheon came almost a year after the Knicks bestowed their ultimate honor with the formal retirement of his no. 15 on March 14, 1992. Together, the two events represented the climax in a Knicks career that is now in its 37th year, and seventh as the team's director of scouting services. "Dick The Knick" has helped shape the team's destiny as a player, head coach, assistant coach. chief scout and now in his current position.

Long recognized as one of the game's greatest judges of talent, McGuire's basketball acumen has helped lead to the drafting in the last seven years of the likes of Mark Jackson, Rod Strickland, Jerrod Mustaf, and current Knicks youngsters Greg Anthony and Hubert Davis.

Just as he had during his 20 years as the Knicks' chief scout, McGuire continues scouting and evaluating on the college level. His current position has Dick taking a more active role in pro scouting and in all player personnel decisions. Dick's constant search for talent continues right into the summer, and this year's "off-season" itinerary found Dickie scouting summer league action in New York, Orlando, Salt Lake City, Phoenix and Los Angeles, as well as at the NBA Pre-Draft Camp in Chicago. And, as always, stops at harness and thoroughbred racetracks and a host of golf courses were also thrown in.

As a player, McGuire forged an unexcelled standard of playmaking excellence. The flashy backcourt ace and native New Yorker earned All-America honors at St. John's in the late 1940's. McGuire was the Knicks' top draft pick in 1949, and chalked up a then-NBA record 386 assists in just 68 games in his rookie season. That stood as a Knicks' rookie mark for nearly four decades, before it was shattered in 1987-88 by Mark Jackson.

During eight seasons with the Knicks, McGuire led the team in assists for seven straight years (1949-50 through 1955-56), and his 2,950 career assists are still third-best on the all-time club list. His playmaking heroics helped lead the Knicks to three straight NBA Finals (1951-53).

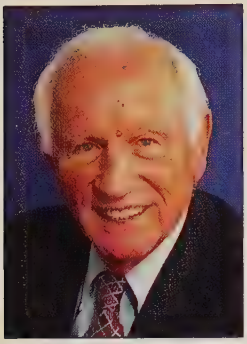
Traded to Detroit in September, 1957, McGuire played three seasons for the Pistons and became the team's player-coach in December, 1959. He retired as an active player at the end of the 1959-60 season to concentrate solely on coaching. For his 11-year NBA career — which included seven All-Star Game appearances — McGuire played in 738 games and averaged 8.0 ppg and 5.7 apg.

McGuire returned to the Knicks on November 29, 1965, succeeding Harry Gallatin as head coach. On December 27, 1967, Dick and Red Holzman exchanged positions with Holzman becoming head coach and McGuire taking over as chief scout and assistant coach. Dickie compiled a 197-260 mark as an NBA head coach, including 75-102 with the Knicks. He led the Pistons into the playoffs in each of his four seasons as Detroit's head coach.

McGuire's career has been highlighted by a host of honors, foremost of which are, of course, his Hall of Fame election and the retirement of his uniform number. Dick is also enshrined in the Madison Square Garden Hall of Fame, the St. John's University Athletic Hall of Fame, and was a 1990 charter inductee into the New York City Basketball Hall of Fame. In 1987, he was honored by the NBA Coaches Association for longtime service to the League. In 1986, Dickie was, fittingly, the first recipient of the "Dick McGuire Award", given periodically by the Knicks to individuals who have made significant contributions to the organization.

Dick's brother Al, a Knick teammate in the early '50s, is the former head coach at Marquette and NBC college hoop commentator, and preceeded Dick into the Hall of Fame by one year. The McGuires are the only brother combination enshrined in Springfield.

A former gym-rat, Dick still plies his craft in spirited half-court games, showing off the moves that made him famous. Dick lives in Dix Hills, NY, with his wife Teri. The McGuires have four grown children: Richard Jr., Leslie, Michael and Scott. Scottie, who has been married to Stacy Kaplan for one year, serves as a Knicks' college scout. Dickie and Teri have one grandchild: Leslie and husband Tom Dwyer's 2 1/2-year old daughter Allyson (Leslie is also expecting the arrival of her and Tom's second child).



RED HOLZMAN
BASKETBALL CONSULTANT

It would be easy for Red Holzman to dwell on past glories. No way. The Hall of Fame coach, who piloted the Knickerbockers to both of their NBA Championships, has his eyes and thoughts dead-set on the franchise's future. And he likes what he sees.

"We certainly have done some great things in the last two years," says the 73-years young Holzman. "And we're looking forward to a lot more great things in the future.

"I'm so happy to still be able to contribute to the organization. The championship days were a great time for everyone involved, but it's really time to look ahead to the future, and to some great times with the team we now have in place."

The man who twice piloted the Knicks to the NBA summit, Red continues to shape the club's destiny in his third season as the Knicks' basketball consultant, a post to which he was appointed on June 4, 1991.

Among Red's assignments this summer were accompanying the Knicks staff to pre-draft action in Chicago, Orlando and Phoenix, assisting with the Knicks' 1993 NBA Draft meetings and attending the 10-day Doral Arrowwood New York Summer League in White Plains.

The tenth-winningest coach in NBA history with a career mark of 696-604 (.535), Red first joined the Knicks in 1959 as chief scout. He succeeded Dick McGuire as head coach on December 27, 1967, beginning an unforgettable run at the club's helm.

In 14 seasons as head coach (1967-68 through 1976-77 and 1978-79 through 1981-82), Holzman piloted the Knickerbockers to a 613-484 (.559) regular season mark, five 50+ win seasons, three Eastern Conference titles, and, of course, NBA Championships in 1969-70 and 1972-73. He won NBA Coach of the Year honors in 1970, leading the Knicks to a club record 60-22 mark en route to the title. Holzman and Pat Riley are the only Knicks coaches to be cited as NBA Coach of the Year.

Holzman's career is studded with honors. He earned basketball's highest honor with election to the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1985. His total of 613 regular season wins as Knicks coach — by far the most in club history — was retired on a Knicks jersey and hoisted to the Garden rafters on March 10, 1990. In 1991, Red was inducted into the New York City Basketball Hall of Fame, and the following year was honored as a charter member of the Garden's new Walk of Fame. Holzman is also a member of the Madison Square Garden Hall of Fame and the CCNY Hall of Fame.

A Brooklyn native, Red was a hoop standout at Franklin K. Lane High School and then at City College under fabled coach Nat Holman. As a pro, he starred for Les Harrison's famed Rochester Royals from 1945-46 through 1952-53, and was a member of the Royals' 1950-51 club that beat the Knicks for the NBA title. He closed his playing career with the Milwaukee Hawks in 1953-54, and averaged 7.4 ppg over 496 games in a nine-year playing career. Red began his coaching career with the Hawks in Milwaukee and St. Louis, from 1953-54 through 1956-57.

Red and his lovely wife Selma will celebrate their 51st Wedding Anniversary on November 29, 1993. Red and Selma live in Cedarhurst, NY. The Holzmans have a grown daughter, Gail. Red's fourth book, My Unforgettable Season, a look back at the 1970 title run, was written with Hall of Fame sportswriter Leonard Lewin and published by Tor Books in 1992.

DENNIS D'AGOSTINO

DIRECTOR, PUBLICATIONS AND INFORMATION

Currently in his seventh season with the Knickerbockers, and second as director of publications and information, Dennis D'Agostino has painstakingly put a signature of excellence on a career during which he has become a omnipresent figure on the New York sports scene.

The epitome of dedication and professionalism, D'Agostino has taken the club's publications to the highest standard. As the editor-in-chief of the Knicks' media guide, yearbook, post-season guide, Baseline Confidential fan magazine and Hoop game program, he strives to create not only attractive and informative literature, but also living, tangible evidence of what the Knicks stand for both as a team and as an organization.

Also in charge of the Knicks' game notes and media information, overseeing the gamenight operation, and assisting vice president, public relations John Cirillo in the day-to-day operations of the department, D'Agostino has a hectic schedule, to say the least. Dennis served the Knicks for four years as publicity manager and one as manager of publications and information before being promoted to his current position prior to the 1992-93 season.

D'Agostino joined the Knicks prior to the 1987-88 season following five years (1983-87) as assistant public relations director of the New York Mets. Working under PR icon Jay Horwitz, he was with the Mets throughout their Glory Era of the mid-'80s, and earned a World Championship ring in the unforgettable 1986 season.

Dennis began his career on the sports desk of the Associated Press in New York from 1978 to 1983, where he wrote and edited copy for the AP's national sports wire.

A 1978 graduate of Fordham University with a BA in communications, Dennis is another in the ever-growing list of sports personalities who trained at Fordham's famed campus station, WFUV. A collector of baseball memorabilia and the Knicks' resident sports historian and archivist, Dennis' longtime idols are comedy genius Ernie Kovacs, legendary Cincinnati manager Fred Hutchinson and nostalgia king Joe Franklin.

D'Agostino is a member of the voting board of the New York Sports Hall of Fame, the Museum of Radio-TV and the Society for American Baseball Research. His book, This Date in New York Mets History, was published by Stein and Day in 1982. The Brooklyn native lives in Whitestone, NY, and is an ardent sports aficionado. During the summer months, he can often be found at Shea and Yankee Stadiums, cutting up touches with his old baseball friends. He also spends much time and effort in keeping Lisa Connelly ankle-deep in golf balls.

TIM DONOVAN

MANAGER, MEDIA RELATIONS

Tim Donovan enters his third season as the Knicks' manager of media relations, and his sixth year overall with the club.

Tim's duties center on day-to-day contact with the largest local and national media contingent in the NBA, arranging player interviews and radio-TV appearances, and assisting vice president, public relations John Cirillo in the daily operation of the department.

Tim's devotion and zeal for basketball, and strong desire to excel have combined for a rapid ascent in the sports PR field.

Donovan, 29, first joined the Knicks as a public relations intern in 1987-88. He came on board on a full-time basis for the 1989 Playoffs, was named a public relations assistant in October, 1989, and was promoted to his current position in May, 1991.

Tim is a 1987 graduate of Rutgers University with a degree in sports management. He was a four-year letterman on the Scarlet Knights' lacrosse team, and, as a senior, finished second in scoring on the Rutgers squad that was ranked sixth in the nation. At Rutgers, he was also a member of the National Public Relations Society and vice president of the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Born in Conway, S.C., Tim was raised in Hauppauge, N.Y., and now lives in Edison, N.J. Among Tim's hobbies are rooting for the defending Super Bowl Champion Dallas Cowboys and the resurgent Cleveland Indians, reading literature on the Vietnam Era, spending weekends on the Jersey Shore and listening to progessive rock music.

FUZZY LEVANE

SCOUT

A man who personifies the history of New York City basketball on the high school, college and professional levels, the inimitable Andrew "Fuzzy" Levane continues to serve the game he loves by keeping his time-wisened eye on the local colleges, the CBA and the USBL in a non-stop pursuit of talent for the Knicks.

Levane first joined the Knicks in 1956 as an assistant coach under Vince Boryla. He was named head coach in 1958 and led the 1958-59 squad to a 40-32 record, the Knicks' winningest mark in five years, and to their first playoff berth in three seasons. Fuzzy also coached the Hawks in both Milwaukee (1952-54) and St. Louis (1961-62). Overall, he posted a 106-170 NBA head coaching record, including 48-51 with the Knicks.

Fuzzy has been a mainstay in the basketball galaxy for more than half a century. After a standout collegiate career at St. John's, Levane made his pro debut with Les Harrison's fabled Rochester Royals in their NBL title season of 1945-46. Levane spent four years with Rochester (including 1948-49, when the Royals joined the NBA), before going on to play with Syracuse and Milwaukee. In six years as a pro, Fuzzy played in 218 games and scored 1,299 points (5.6 ppg).

Following the 1961-62 season, Levane left pro ball and returned to live in New York. Fourteen years later, in 1976, he rejoined the Knicks as a scout, working under chief scout Dick McGuire, and has remained ever since.

Levane's basketball exploits have earned him a host of honors. In 1985, he was enshrined in the St. John's University Athletic Hall of Fame. In 1991, he was inducted into the New York City Basketball Hall of Fame (along with his old teammate and longtime cohort, Red Holzman), and was also honored by the Lake Success (NY) B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League with their Torch of Liberty Award. Just prior to the opening of 1993 training camp, Fuzzy was again honored by the New York City Basketball Hall of Fame when the fabled 1938-39 James Madison High School team — a squad captained by Levane and one which produced six pro players — was inducted as a unit.

A youthful 73 years young, Fuzzy and his wife Kay have been married for 48 years and have six grown children and 12 grandchildren. In addition to his basketball accomplishments, the sporting world owes a great debt to Levane for the generous out-of-pocket donations he has made to horse racing, at such varied locales as Aqueduct, Belmont, Monmouth and Saratoga.

1992-93: All-out tenacity and personification of Knicks' spirit resulted in a standout season which earned him second team NBA All-Defensive honors. . .Finished fourth in balloting for NBA Most Improved Player (won by Denver's Chris Jackson). . .Established career highs in virtually all major categories. . .Played in 80 games (51 starts) and was second on team with 17.5 ppg (38th in NBA). . .Averaged .428 shooting (513-1199 FGA), .795 from the line and 5.1 apg over 31.0 mpg. . .Knicks' leading Downtown artist with 108-336 (.321) from three-point range. His 108 home runs were the second-best one-season mark in club history, trailing only Trent Tucker's 118 three-point FG in 1988-89 during Bomb Squad heyday. . .Led Knicks in scoring 17 times and in assists 29 times. . .Recorded 33 20+ scoring games and six 30+ outings (Knicks were spotless 6-0 when John had 30+). . .Had four double-digit assist games (Knicks were 4-0). . .Started each of the season's first eight games, with 13.8 ppg. . .DNP (CD) vs. Magic, Nov 21 and vs. Bullets, Nov 24, the only two games in which he didn't appear in. . .Then came off the bench for 29 straight games, Nov 25-Jan 26, averaging 15.6 ppg. . .After playing 28 games (through Jan 8), John was averaging 12.5 ppg on .391 shooting (132-338 FGA). . .Then he put together three straight 20+ scoring games (28 + 33 + 27), Jan 10-13, to ignite a span in which he'd average 20.1 ppg on .443 shooting (381-861 FGA) in his final 52 games. . .Voted January's "MetLife Knick of the Month", with 19.5 ppg and 92-197 FGA (.467) for the month's 13 games. . .Went into the starting lineup to stay on Jan 28, with 24 points (8-18 FGA) vs. Hawks. . .As a starter on the season (51 games), John averaged: 18.5 ppg, 5.7 apg and shot .428 (344-803 FGA) over 33.4 mpg. . .February and March were marked by series of memorable games. . .Key figure in triple-OT epic at Orlando, Feb 14. Scored 26 points (10-36 FGA) in career-high 56 minutes (longest stint for a Knick since Bob McAdoo logged 57 minutes in 2OT at Milwaukee, March 8, 1978). 36 FGA fell one shy of club mark. . .Poured in career-high 39 points (13-21 FGA), Feb 17 vs. Hornets, with then-career-best 13 assists. Combined with Ewing (43) to score 82 of the Knicks' 124 points. . .Averaged 20.4 ppg on .455 shooting in February. . .Became Knicks' version of The Man in the Mask, March 4 vs. Utah. Suffered broken nose in first-period collision with Jeff Malone, but donned facemask and scored 22 points (9-15 FGA) in 24 minutes. Wore facemask for next four games. . .Career-high six steals vs. Bucks, March 16. . .Dished off career best 14 assists at Lakers, March 26, and became the first Knick to play a regular season complete game (48 min) since Mark Jackson at Lakers, Jan 22, 1988. . .Closed out regular season with flourish, posting seven straight 20+ scoring games, March 28-April 8, with 22.4 ppg. . .On April 6, he went 6-13 from Downtown en route to 22 points at Atlanta; his biggest homer game since he canned a club record eight vs. Bulls, March 31, 1992. . .Canned 24 straight FTA, April 14-25.

IN THE PLAYOFFS: Continued to shine in post-season play with 16.5 ppg, 6.4 apg (11th best for '93 Playoffs) and .440 shooting over 38.3 mpg, starting all 15 games. . .Went 28-75 (.373) from Downtown. . .Led Knicks in scoring three times and recorded five games with 20+ scoring. . .Established Knicks one-game playoff marks for three-pointers made (five in Game One vs. Chicago) and attempted (nine, three times). . .Had two double-figure assist games and led Knicks in assists eight times. . .Poured in career playoff high 29 points in Game Two of Pacers series. . .Playoff career high 12 assists in Game One vs. Hornets. . .Main cog in Knicks' two playoff wins over Chicago. Scored 25 points in Game One, including 5-7 from Downtown, a club record for most homers in a playoff game. . .Had 12 points and game-high nine assists in Game Two, and authored the most memorable play of Knicks' season: the driving, left-handed dunk with :47.3 left that gave NY a five-point lead and all but sealed matters. . .Ejected in Game Three of Indiana set (flagrant foul, Miller) and Game Three vs. Bulls (two techs).

CAREER MILESTONES: After just three Knicks seasons, John is already second on the all-time club list with 229 three-point FG, trailing only Trent Tucker's 504. . .On the all-time Playoff career lists, he's already first in three-point FG (39, ahead of Tucker's 37), sixth in steals (32, tied w/Frazier) and 10th in assists (140).

MILESTONES IN SIGHT: Needs 41 games played for 300 career; 89 assists for 1,000 career, and 1,852 points for 5,000 career.

FOUR-POINT PLAYS: John has recorded three, four-point plays (three-point FG + FTM) during his Knicks career, all during the 1991-92 season. . .The rundown: Jan 24, 1992 vs. Warriors; April 8, 1992 vs. Celtics, and April 18, 1992 vs. Bucks. . .John and Denver's Michael Adams (in both 1987-88 and 1989-90) are the only NBA players to hit three four-baggers in one season. . .Had a chance for his fourth career four-master on Dec 12, 1992 vs. Pistons, when he hit a three-pointer and was fouled by Olden Polynice, but missed the FTA.

AS A PROFESSIONAL: Signed as an undrafted free agent by Golden State on October 1, 1988. 1988-89: Averaged 4.1 ppg on .408 shooting over 8.8 mpg in 36 games with Warriors. . .Career high nine rebounds vs. Blazers, December 23, 1988. . .Placed on injured list with strained back, March 4, 1989, forcing him to miss post-season action. . .Waived by Golden State following the season. 1989-90: Earned CBA All-Star honors with Cedar Rapids, averaging 21.7 ppg and 5.3 rpg. . .Also averaged 19.7 ppg on .466 shooting for Memphis of WBL and was 1990 league All-Star. 1990-91: Signed by Knicks as free agent on October 1, 1990, and fiery play made him the "find" of the season. . .Averaged 7.6 ppg on .439 shooting in 19.2 mpg over 61 games. . .Recorded 19 double-digit scoring games (15 off the bench) and three 20+ outings. . .Made 10 starts and averaged 9.9 ppg in 29.4 mpg. . .Opened the season on the injured list (Nov 1-Dec 6) after spraining right knee in workout collision with Patrick Ewing on Oct 31, 1990. 1991-92: Emerged as one of NBA's outstanding Sixth Men and Downtown artists with stellar campaign. . .Came off the bench in all 82 games with 13.9 ppg (second on team). . .Had 15 20+ point games, led Knicks in scoring eight times and in assists seven times. . .Took over as Knicks' leading three-point shooter, going 94-270 (.348) from Downtown. . .Canned a club record eight (of 15) three-point FG vs. Bulls, March 31, 1992. . .Tied a one-season NBA record by recording three, four-point plays (3PT FGM + FTM). . ."MetLife Knick of the Month" for both November and December. . .Scored then-career-high 30 points vs. Magic on Nov 7, 1991. . .Represented Knicks in Gatorade Slam-Dunk Competition in Orlando, and finished fourth to winner Cedric Ceballos of Phoenix.

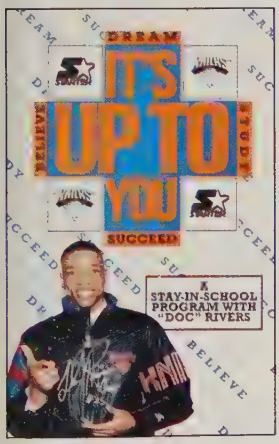
EMBRACING THE COMMUNITY

The Knickerbockers' obligation to their community does not end at the final buzzer. Rather, it begins there.

Out of the boundaries of the basketball court, beyond the walls of Madison Square Garden, the Knicks are involved in a myriad of local outreach projects. "Giving back to the community" is a core element of the franchise's mission.

The Knicks are forever striving to make a difference within the community and the people that support them. Several of their efforts are captured on the following pages.



STARTER "IT'S UP TO YOU" PROGRAM

Doc Rivers serves as chairman of the Starter "It's Up To You" program, a major educational effort to assist ninth-grade students throughout the New York City Public School system, completely funded by Starter and the Knicks. The ambitious program encompasses all 135 city public schools, stressing improved attendance and academic achievement, and offering incentives such as T-shirts, book covers and tickets to Knicks home games.

The 1992-93 program was highlighted by the release of a 10-minute video starring Rivers and students from Brandeis High School, and made available to all schools in the tri-state area. The video combined music, action footage and interviews to stress the importance of staying in school, and the four-pronged philosophy of: Dream-Believe-Study-Succeed. The video was funded by Starter and the Knicks, and assisted by Madison Square Garden and Paramount Publishing.

This year's Starter "It's Up To You" program will feature a contest in which students may submit essays, tapes or videos; additional incentive efforts, and a gala end-of-season dinner honoring the city's top high school achievers.

COCA-COLA JUNIOR KNICKS LEAGUE, PRESENTED BY LA GEAR

Currently in its third season, the Coca-Cola Junior Knicks League, presented by LA Gear is now a year-round effort, in which over 7,000 boys and girls participate.

The League includes three divisions: the YMCA of Greater New York, City Wide Athletic Association, and the Holcombe Rucker League, which joins up this season. The effort encompasses all five boroughs, and youngsters ranging in age from 7 to 21 are eligible to participate.

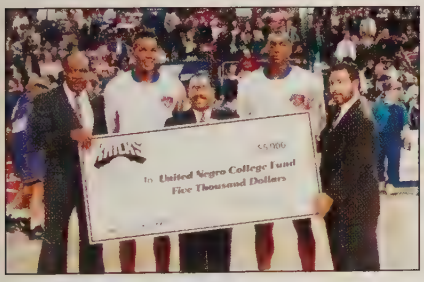
The League combines recreational sports with education. The program includes SAT tutoring for student/athletes preparing for college, and general tutoring for younger participants. Players must submit report cards showing passing grades to their head coach to continue participation.

Rolando Blackman serves as the League's commissioner, while Tony Campbell is deputy commissioner. Comprising the League's Board of Governors are John Starks, Hubert Davis and Hall of Famers Walt Frazier, Earl Monroe and Dick McGuire.

EMBRACING THE COMMUNITY

ALAMO SUMMER CARAVAN - The summer of '93 marked the eighth year for one of the Knicks' longest-standing and most successful community efforts, the Alamo Summer Caravan. Caravan appearances focus on hoop fundamentals while conveying to youngsters the dangers of drugs and the importance of staying in school. Knicks players join with community relations director Cal Ramsey in a series of clinics at parks, playgrounds and schools throughout the Metropolitan area, including this one featuring John Starks at Fordham University's fabled Rose Hill Gym.

KNICKS WIVES SAVE LIVES - Knicks wives Rita Ewing, Lisa Johnson-Smith, Chris Riley and Tamara Blackman were among those who joined head coach Pat Riley during the second year of the "Knicks Wives Save Lives" breast cancer awareness campaign, conducted in conjuction with the national "NBA Wives Save Lives" effort. For more information on the program and what you can do in the fight against breast cancer, call the American Cancer Society at 1-800-ACS-2345.



HONORING DR. KING — Each year, the Knicks honor the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. with a $5,000 scholarship grant to the United Negro College Fund. The grant is presented annually during the Knicks' traditional afternoon home game on Dr. King's birthday. This year's donation will be made at the January 17 game against Minnesota. Last season, Knicks' director of community relations Cal Ramsey and director of administration Ed Tapscott joined Charles Oakley and Anthony Mason in making the annual presentation to the UNCF's Virgil Ecton.

EMBRACING THE COMMUNITY

GATORADE KNICKS SUMMER BASKETBALL CAMP - In its second year, the Gatorade Knicks Summer Basketball camp expanded to four locations in the tri-state area during the summer of '93, as more than 1,000 youngsters learned hoop fundamentals from Knicks players such as Greg Anthony. Gatorade also donates tickets throughout the season so underprivileged children can attend Knicks games.

TEAMMATES FOR A CURE — Marking its sixth year as a staple on the Big Apple fall sports scene, the "Welcome Home Knicks" Dinner enables the Knicks and their fans to become "Teammates for a Cure" with the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation. Entering the 1993-94 season, the annual dinner and auction at the world-famous Waldorf Astoria had raised over $350,000 in the fight against juvenile diabetes. Doc Rivers is the event's co-chairman. At last year's sold-out affair, Knicks president Dave Checketts was honored by the JDF's Steve Merdinger and dinner co-chairman Willie Randolph.

NYNEX COMMUNITY SERVICE SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM — Currently in its fourth season, the NYNEX/Yellow Pages Community Service Scholarship Program gives area high school seniors an opportunity to qualify for one of seven $2,000 scholarships or a $10,000 grand prize to the college of their choice. The program places emphasis not only on academic excellence, but on community service as well. Hubert Davis serves as program chairman, and presented last year's grand prize to Aisha Hughes of Long Island's Malverne High School. For information on this year's program, students should see their high school guidance counselor.

TOGETHER FOR WHEELCHAIR CHARITIES — The second annual New York All-Star Basketball Classic was played at the Garden on September 1, 1993, as the Knicks, the National Basketball Players Association and Wheelchair Charities, Inc. combined for another star-studded event. A Garden crowd of 13,879 cheered the likes of Anthony Mason, John Starks, Tony Campbell, Bernard King, Mark Jackson, Kenny Anderson and Danny Manning in the All-Star affair, with all proceeds going to Wheelchair Charities. At the pre-event luncheon, Wheelchair Charities' Tjader Fogle was joined by Seton Hall coach P.J. Carlesimo, Knicks president Dave Checketts, Wheelchair Charities founder Hank Carter, Knicks GM Ernie Grunfeld and show biz stars Robert Klein and Danny Aiello.

EMBRACING THE COMMUNITY

PATRICK FIGHTS CHILD ABUSE — Patrick Ewing was honored by Tony Yula of the American Amusement Machine Association and Jacqueline Leo of the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse for his continued efforts in the fight against child abuse. The trio holds the new poster featuring Patrick and son Patrick Jr., available through the AAMA (12371 Directors Loop, Woodbridge, Va., 22192).

EASTER SEALS SHOOTOUT — Knicks annually honor the area's top young Easter Seals fundraisers at the Garden's Easter Seals Shootout. Trainer Mike Saunders, the event's longtime co-chairman, poses with last season's honorees.

A NIGHT OF ETHNIC UNDERSTANDING — Knicks president Dave Checketts and event chairman Anthony Mason meet the participants in last year's unique, inaugural "Night of Ethnic Understanding" at the Garden, which was highlighted by a halftime scrimmage featuring youth from Project CURE in Crown Heights. This year's event will be held on December 14 vs. Denver.

MENTORSHIP PROGRAM — Knicks mentorship program completed its third year of giving high schoolers a taste of behind-the-scenes life in the NBA. This past summer, Josephine Menzies of Brooklyn's John Dewey H.S. was welcomed by Cal Ramsey and Knicks VP John Cirillo.

ON TARGET FOR THE BBR — Knicks' support of the Boys Brotherhood Republic continued as the likes of Doc Rivers paid frequent visits, to the delight of youngsters and BBR's Ralph Hittman. Donations from John Starks and Sharp Electronics resulted in a $10,000 donation to the BBR in 1992-93, while the Knicks City Dancers raised $22,000 for BBR with their appearance on TV's "Family Feud".

Marv Albert

The man whose voice is synonymous with the drama and excitement of Knicks basketball, MARV ALBERT is in his 27th season behind the club's microphones. One of the nation's busiest and most recognizable sportscasters, Marv is in his eighth season as play-by-play voice on virtually all MSG Network Knicks cablecasts. Prior to his move to the TV side in 1986-87, Marv was radio voice of the Knicks for 19 years, making the catchword "Yesss!" a permanent part of New York's sports vocabulary. Among current NBA announcers, Marv trails only Laker legend Chick Hearn in terms of continuous service with the same club. He's also in his 29th season as radio voice of the hockey Rangers. Besides his MSG Network assignments, Marv is in his fourth season of calling NBA action for NBC-TV. He also handles NFL football and pro boxing for NBC, and was NBC's play-by-play basketball voice at the 1992 Barcelona Olympics. On the national scene, Marv was a regular on NBC's "Late Night With David Letterman" with his zany "Albert Achievement Awards", now a staple of "NBA Inside Stuff". Winner of the New York State Sportscaster of the Year award a staggering 19 times, he has also earned three ACE Awards for excellence in cable broadcasting. Marv's brothers Al (Nuggets) and Steve (Warriors) are longtime NBA voices, and his son Ken is in his second season as television voice of the NHL's Washington Captials.

John Andariese

One of the NBA's senior broadcast analysts, JOHN ANDARIESE is in his eighth season as color commentator alongside Marv Albert on MSG Network's coverage of Knicks basketball. A veteran of 23 years of basketball broadcasting, John had previously handled the color chores on MSG Network's radio coverage for eight seasons, including New York's second championship season of 1972-73. John also spent 10 years as college basketball commentator for NBC Sports, was co-host of ESPN's "The NBA Tonight", and served for two years as color analyst on TBS' coverage of the NBA. A former hoop star at Fordham under Johnny Bach (he's the Rams' 30th leading career scorer and 14th career rebounder), John is co-founder of the New York Pro and College Summer Basketball League, a member of the national sports committee of the Leukemia Society of America, and a partner in Total Video, Inc., a television advertising and marketing firm. John has been honored with enshrinement into the Fordham Athletic Hall of Fame and the Brooklyn-based Basketball Old-Timers of America Hall of Fame.

Mike Breen

Youthful MIKE BREEN returns for his second season as play-by-play voice for all Knicks radiocasts over the WFAN/MSG Radio Network. Prior to becoming the team's radio voice in 1992-93, Mike hosted the Knicks' pre- and post-game shows over MSG Radio. Breen will also continue as a full-time sportscaster on SportsRadio 66 WFAN, including his role as a fixture on the popular "Imus In The Morning" show, trading well-placed barbs with the award-winning radio icon. This past summer, Mike also served as play-by-play voice for the football Giants' pre-season telecasts on WCBS-TV. Before joining WFAN in October, 1989, Mike worked for SportsChannel, co-hosting its "Sports Nightly" show along with handling play-by-play for college and high school basketball. Breen is another in the long line of sports personalities who gained their training at WFUV-FM, Fordham University's famed campus station.

Walt Frazier

Hall of Famer WALT FRAZIER, the peerless floor general of the Knicks' two championship teams and the franchise's all-time leading scorer, is in his fifth season as color analyst alongside Mike Breen on the WFAN/MSG Radio Network. In addition, the inimitable phrasemaster will offer pre-game, halftime and post-game analysis on MSG Network cablecasts, as the in-studio guest of host Al Trautwig. Last season, Walt's ever-expanding vocabulary served as the basis for MSG Network's popular "Bouncing and Pronouncing With Clyde" fan contest. Prior to joining the Knicks' radio team, "Clyde" was the color analyst on selected Atlanta Hawks telecasts as well as on NBA coverage on SuperStation TBS. Frazier, whose retired No. 10 hangs from the Garden rafters, also maintains an interest in several business ventures. Elected to the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1986, Walt resides in Manhattan.

MSG NETWORK BROADCASTERS

Al Trautwig

Among his extensive list of duties for MSG Network, versatile AL TRAUTWIG is in his fifth year as host of all Knicks pre-game cablecasts emanating from the Garden. He will also call the play-by-play on selected Knicks cablecasts on MSG. In addition to his Knicks duties, Trautwig also hosts "Rangers GameNight", the "Nobody Beats the Wiz Jets Journal", "Coors Light Sports Forum", "Yankees Scorecard" and the Yankees' "Post-Game Report" for MSG, and joins Dewayne Staats and Tony Kubek for Yankees game coverage on MSG. Prior to joining MSG Network, Trautwig worked for ABC Sports since 1984, and participated in nine Emmy Award-winning programs throughout his tenure there. From 1980-85, Al was the leading sports personality for USA Network, handling such events as NCAA basketball, NHL hockey, and a variety of tennis events. In 1992, Trautwig worked both the Winter Olympics in Albertville for CBS, and the Summer Olympics in Barcelona for NBC. The Long Island native's basketball roots go deep, as he was ballboy for the Dr. J-led 1974 ABA Champion New York Nets.

Bruce Beck

A 12-year veteran of MSG Network, BRUCE BECK is the feature reporter for MSG's coverage of Knicks basketball. Bruce, who will also host several Knicks cablecasts, also serves as feature reporter for all New York Rangers pre-game shows from the Garden, and is the play-by-play voice for many college basketball, tennis and boxing cablecasts on MSG Network. Among the other MSG Network events which Bruce has hosted or served as feature reporter are: "The Ring Boxing Report", the Millrose Games, Virginia Slims tennis, the Meadowlands racing shows, "MSG SportsDesk", and the "Lou Carnesecca Show", which he hosted alongside the fabled former St. John's coach. Bruce has also delivered play-by-play on Big East Network hoop telecasts and has hosted the U.S. Open tennis championships for USA Network. In addition to his MSG Network duties, he also currently serves as host for ESPN's Breeders Crown harness racing series, and as weekend sports anchor for WCBS-TV. Beck has captured three New York area Emmy Awards for outstanding live sports coverage.

Howard Singer

HOWARD SINGER (a.k.a. "The Electronic Wizard") is in his sixth season as producer of Knicks basketball on MSG Network. A 1981 graduate of the University of Massachusetts with a BA in Communications, Singer has been with MSG Network for 12 years and has produced half-hour specials featuring Knicks legends Earl Monroe and Walt Frazier, along with directing "MSG SportsDesk" and "Coors SportsNight With Dave Sims". Singer has earned four Emmy awards for broadcasting excellence, including one as part of NBC's production crew on the 1988 Seoul Olympics, and two more for his work on Knicks telecasts in both 1991 and 1992.

Suzyn Waldman

A trailblazer in the women's sportscasting field, SUZYN WALDMAN will handle the pre- and post-game shows and halftime reports for all Knicks broadcasts on the WFAN/MSG Radio Network for the second straight season. As the Yankees and Knicks beat reporter for WFAN, Suzyn has captivated audiences with her perceptive and sometimes controversial analysis and opinions. She has also served as color commentator on St. John's broadcasts, and provided color on the national broadcast of the 1992 NIT Finals from the Garden. She has received nationwide acclaim for her honest and emotional reporting, and won an International Radio Festival Award for her on-the-spot work from Candlestick Park during the 1989 San Francisco earthquake. A native Bostonian, Suzyn spent 15 years on the Broadway musical stage, starring opposite Richard Kiley in "Man of La Mancha" and performing leading roles in "Nine" and "No, No, Nanette". She was a mainstay on the New York nightclub circuit during the '70s, and has performed across the country and in Europe.

MSG NETWORK: MSG Network will carry 39 Knicks regular season home games (all except the February 6 game against Orlando and the February 20 game against Chicago), and nearly all road contests, with Marv Albert and John Andariese.

MSGII: Due to conflicts with Rangers and Yankees cablecasts, the following Knicks road games are scheduled to be seen on MSGII: November 10 at Washington; November 16 at Dallas; February 2 at Washington; February 7 at Miami; March 7 at Detroit; April 8 at Philadelphia; April 14 at Washington.

WFAN/MSG RADIO NETWORK: All Knicks regular season and playoff games will be carried on radio, with Mike Breen and Hall of Famer Walt Frazier. SportsRadio 66 WFAN will serve as the flagship station. Games not carried on WFAN will be heard on WEVD-1050 AM.

NEW YO

KNICKS 1992-93 SEASON IN REVIEW

GO LIKE 60!: The 1992-93 New York Knickerbockers recorded a 60-22 record (37-4 home, 23-18 road). . .They tied a franchise record for victories, matching the 60-22 mark of the 1969-70 World Champions. . .They became the 35th team in NBA history to record 60+ victories. . .Coupled with their 51 wins in 1991-92, the Knicks posted consecutive 50+ win seasons for the first time since they had three straight 50+ campaigns, in 1968-69, 1969-70 and 1970-71 (54 - 60 - 52).

CHAMPS!: Knicks won their third Atlantic Division Championship in club history. . .They clinched the division crown in their 73rd game, a 110-88 win over Boston at MSG on April 8. . .Knicks also won the Atlantic in 1970-71 (first year of four-division setup) and 1988-89. . .Knicks also beat out Chicago (57-25) in the season's final week for the number-one seed in the Eastern Conference.

THE PLAYOFFS: Knicks made it to the Eastern Conference Finals for the first time since 1973-74. . .Knicks went 9-6 overall in the playoffs, and their nine playoff wins marked their highest total since the championship season of 1972-73 (12-5). . .Knicks fell to the Chicago Bulls in the playoffs for the third straight year, and for the fourth time in the last five seasons. . .Series vs. Bulls marked first time Knicks extended their season into the month of June.

HONORS: Pat Riley was voted the IBM NBA Coach of the Year for 1992-93, beating out Houston's Rudy Tomjanovich by one vote in the closest balloting in the award's 31-year history. It was the second Coach of the Year award for Pat (also in 1989-90 w/Lakers), and marked the second time a Knick mentor has been honored (also Red Holzman in 1969-70). Pat also served as Eastern Conference head coach at the NBA All-Star Game in Utah. . .John Starks was named to the NBA's Second Team All-Defensive squad, and finished fourth in the balloting for the NBA's Most Improved Player award, won by Denver's Chris Jackson. . .Patrick Ewing finished fourth (four first-place votes, 359 points) in the MVP balloting, and was named to the All-NBA Second Team. . .Anthony Mason finished second (tied w/Danny Ainge) to Portland's Cliff Robinson in the balloting for the Miller Genuine Draft NBA Sixth Man Award.

GOING OUT WITH A BANG: Knicks concluded the regular season by winning five straight games, nine of their last 10, 15 of their last 17, 24 of their last 28 and 39 of their last 47. . .They won nine straight games from March 2-21, their longest winning streak since they won nine straight from Dec 9-30, 1989. . .Knicks also put together win streaks of seven straight (Feb 2-12) and six straight (March 26-April 4).

AT HOME (37-4): Knicks' 37 home victories led the NBA and established a club record. . .Previous Knicks home mark was 35-6 in both 1972-73 and 1988-89. . .It was the seventh 30+-win season at home in Knicks history. . .They won their last 20 straight regular season home games, tying for the second-longest home win streak in club annals (the streak extended to 27 straight wins before the loss in Game Five of the Eastern Finals vs. Bulls). . .Knicks' four regular season home losses were to: Charlotte (110-103 in OT on Dec 10), the Clippers (98-97 in OT on Jan 2), Boston (100-97 on Jan 10) and Atlanta (110-105 on Jan 28). . .Knicks won the season's first nine home games, falling three wins shy of matching their club record for the most home wins to open a season: 12 in 1989-90.

ON THE ROAD (23-18): Knicks finished with their highest road win total since 1969-70 (27-10). . .They won eight of their last 10 road games and 18 of their last 27 contests away from MSG (after losing nine of first 14 road games). . .Their longest road win streak of the season was four, twice.

STREAKBUSTERS: Knicks snapped all three of their double-digit road losing streaks during the 1992-93 season. . .They broke a 23-game regular season losing streak at the Boston Garden with a 113-87 win on Dec 18. . .They snapped a 13-game regular season skid at Chicago Stadium with a 104-98 win on Feb 12. . .And finally, they broke an 11-game losing streak at Cleveland with a 115-95 triumph on March 18.

THE SELLOUT STORY: Big Apple's response to Knicks reached unprecedented proportions. . .Knicks sold out 39 of their 41 home dates, establishing club records for sellouts (39), average attendance (19,630), and total attendance (804,840), the first time the Knicks ever cleared 800,000 in home attendance. . .Knicks also sold out each of their eight home playoff games.

DEE-FENSE!: Knicks' tenacious defense recorded a League-low 95.4 ppg allowed. . .Knicks posted their lowest defensive point total since allowing 92.6 ppg in 1954-55 (first season with 24-second clock). . .They also held the opposition to a League-low .426 shooting pct, recording their lowest opposing FG pct. since the NBA first kept defensive stats (1970-71). Prior club mark for lowest opposing FG pct. was .431 in 1970-71. . .Knicks allowed .500+ shooting in only nine regular season games. . .Knicks hung sub-100 point games on the opponents in a League-high 52 games, and were 48-4 when holding the opposition under 100. . .Knicks were also 23-1 when holding the opposition under 90 points. They tied a (post-clock) club record by recording four straight sub-90 defensive games (Nov 21-28), tying a mark established twice during the 1982-83 season.

MERRY MONTHS: Knicks recorded four double-figure win months in one season for the first time in their history. . .Knicks went a blistering 12-2 in March, their winningest month in 20 years (since January, 1973, 12-3), and then duplicated the feat by going 12-2 again in April.

OFF THE GLASS: Knicks averaged 46.5 rpg to the opposition's 40.9 rpg. . .They outrebounded the opposition in 60 of the season's 82 games. . .Knicks finished with their highest rebounding average since recording 47.2 rpg in 1977-78. . .They led the NBA in defensive rebound percentage (.721) and overall rebound percentage (.526).

STARTING FIVE: Knicks used nine different starting lineups in 1992-93. . .Most-used starting five was Oakley-Smith-Ewing-Rivers-Starks (20 times).

1992-93 KNICKERBOCKERS HIGHLIGHTS

NOVEMBER (8-5)

NOV 6: Knicks begin their 47th NBA season with a 106-94 victory over the Atlanta Hawks at the Omni. . .Revamped Knicks start the season with seven new faces (Tony Campbell, Rolando Blackman, Doc Rivers, Bo Kimble, Eric Anderson, Hubert Davis and Charles Smith) and only five active returnees from the previous spring's playoff squad (Patrick Ewing, Charles Oakley, John Starks, Greg Anthony and Anthony Mason).
NOV 13: Unlucky Friday the 13th as Knicks lose their first of the season after three straight wins, 106-104 at Washington. . .Rookie Hubert Davis scores a season-high 22 points.
NOV 14: Despite season-low .315 (29-92 FGA) shooting, Knicks beat Boston, 85-80 at MSG.
NOV 21 - Knicks rebound from 0-3 West Coast trip with 92-77 win over Orlando at MSG. ..Smith scores 26 with 10 rebounds. . .First-ever duel between Shaquille O'Neal (18 pts, 17 reb) and Ewing (15 pts, 9 reb).
NOV 28: Knicks break an 11-game regular season losing streak against Chicago with a rousing 112-75 victory over Bulls at MSG. . .Ewing scores 26 with 15 rebounds, while Oakley hauls in 16 boards. . .Knicks hold Michael Jordan to 17 points on 4-20 FGA. . .It's Knicks' first regular season win over Bulls since Jan 15, 1990. . .Knicks snap dry spell in which they scored under 100 points in seven straight games, their longest such streak since January, 1985 (eight straight). . .37-point victory margin is Knicks' biggest since defeating Philadelphia by 38, 111-73 on Jan 9, 1984. . .Knicks tie a (post-clock) club record with their fourth straight defensive game under 90 points.

METLIFE KNICK OF THE MONTH: Patrick Ewing
SHARP ELECTRONICS SHARPSHOOTER OF THE MONTH: Charles Oakley.

DECEMBER (10-4; 18-9)

DEC 1: Knicks complete four-day span in which they knocked off both of previous year's NBA Finalists with 101-85 win over Portland at MSG. . .Knicks hold high-powered Blazers to just 30 points in first half, their best defensive half of the season.
DEC 5: Knicks move into undisputed possession of first place in the Atlantic Division — a spot they would hold for the rest of the season — with 111-98 win over Milwaukee at MSG.
DEC 10: After nine straight home wins to open the season, Knicks suffer their first loss at MSG, dropping a 110-103 OT decision to Charlotte, snapping an eight-game win streak vs. Hornets. . .Knicks fall three wins shy of tying their all-time record for most home wins to open the season (12 in 1989-90).
DEC 12: Knicks rebound from 16-point deficit to defeat Detroit, 95-88 at MSG. . .Sellout crowd of 19,763 completes a streak in which the Knicks sold out each of their first 11 home games.
DEC 18: Knicks end eight years of frustration at Boston Garden with a 113-87 rout of the Celtics, breaking a 23-game regular season losing streak on the fabled parquet floor. . .Ewing leads the charge with 30 points (including his fourth career three-point FG); Mason adds 19 points and 13 rebounds. . .It's the Knicks' first regular season win at Boston since February 29, 1984. . .The game is telecast back to New York on WNBC-TV, ch. 4, the first Knicks-originated, over-the-air telecast since 1988-89.
DEC 19: Pat Riley becomes the 12th coach in NBA history to record 600 career victories, racking up no. 600 with a 91-87 win over Miami at MSG. . .Ewing records a career-high 26 rebounds and a club record 22 defensive boards. . .Blackman scores a season-high 23 points.
DEC 25: Before a national TV audience on NBC, Knicks absorb their 13th straight regular season defeat at the Chicago Stadium as they lose to the Bulls, 89-77. . .Knicks are held to season low half (28 in second) and quarter (13 in third) scoring. . .Knicks are now 19-21 all-time on Christmas Day.
DEC 26: Knicks score a club record low two points in overtime, and lose at Milwaukee, 102-100, as Bucks snap an 11-game losing streak.
DEC 29: With Rivers sidelined with a partially separated right shoulder, Greg Anthony makes his first start of the season and scores a career-high 23 points in 97-91 win over Indiana at MSG.
DEC 30: Knicks rally from 17-point third-quarter deficit to defeat Pacers, 94-90 at Indiana to sweep home-and-home series.

NBA PLAYER OF THE WEEK: Patrick Ewing (period ending Dec 20)

JANUARY (7-6; 25-15)

JAN 5: Knicks snap six-game losing streak vs. Cleveland with 95-91 victory at MSG, their first win over Cavs since March 20, 1991.
JAN 8: Anthony dishes off season-high 15 assists, but Knicks lose at Orlando, 95-94, as O'Neal denies Ewing's last-second shot.

JAN 8 (con'd)

JAN 10: Knicks rally to cut a 23-point deficit down to one, but fall short at finish and lose to Celtics at MSG, 100-97. . .Celtics go 41-82 FGA (.500), ending a streak in which the Knicks had held the opposition under .500 shooting in 23 straight games.
JAN 12: Rivers racks up a club season high seven steals in 104-93 win at Sacramento.
JAN 18: Knicks delight home sellout on Martin Luther King Day with 106-103 victory over high-flying Phoenix. . .Ewing scores 35 points, while Starks adds 21 off the bench. . .End of game features Suns' Charles Barkley jumping the scorers table in dispute with referee Jim Clark.
JAN 22: A myriad of milestones highlight a 109-91 victory at Philadelphia. . .Knicks produce two 30+ scorers in one game (Ewing 34, Starks 32) for the first time since November 18, 1988 (also at Phila). . .Rivers swishes home a 55-footer to end the first quarter. . .And Blackman — playing in his 900th career regular season game — fouls out for the first time in the regular season in his NBA career.
JAN 26: Knicks beat Philadelphia, 98-90, in front of Garden sellout, as multi-racial events highlight first-ever Racial Harmony Night at MSG.

METLIFE KNICK OF THE MONTH: John Starks
SHARP ELECTRONICS SHARPSHOOTER OF THE MONTH: Charles Oakley

FEBRUARY (11-3; 36-18)

FEB 4: Ewing (hyperextended right knee) misses first game since Feb 2, 1991 vs. Kings, but Starks (30 points) and Smith (20 points, 12 rebounds) step it up for a 105-101 win over Warriors @ MSG.
FEB 5: Down by eight points with 5:00 left, Knicks draw defensive curtain over Heat and rally for 108-105 win at Miami. . .Off the bench, Mason scores 21 points (nine in fourth quarter) with 14 rebounds.
FEB 8: Ewing pours in 40 points (including 10 of Knicks' 14 OT points) while Mason hauls in a career-high 18 rebounds to key 120-115 overtime win at Philadelphia. . .For Patrick, it's his 24+ career 40+ game, breaking Bernard King's club record.
FEB 11: Knicks rack up season high points (125) and shoot .581 (54-93 FGA) en route to 125-95 win over Rockets at MSG. . .Anthony goes 6-6 FGA for 13 points. . .Knicks go 17-24 FGA (.708) in the third quarter.
FEB 12: Knicks snap a 13-game regular season losing streak at the Chicago Stadium with a 104-98 win over the Bulls. . .Ewing leads the way with 36 points and 15 rebounds. . .It's Knicks' first regular season win at Chicago since March 6, 1987. . .Scottie Pippen scores 35 for the Bulls, who are without the services of Michael Jordan (one-game suspension).
FEB 14: Knicks have a seven-game winning streak snapped with gut-wrenching 102-100 triple overtime loss at Orlando before national NBC-TV audience. . .It's Knicks first triple-OT game since December 16, 1977 (152-150 loss at Milwaukee). . .Ewing scores game-high 34 points. . .Knicks place four players in double-figure rebounds (Oakley 18, Ewing 14, Mason 12, Williams 10), and outboard Magic by 73-55. . .Starks scores 26 points in 56 minutes, the longest playing stint for a Knick since Bob McAdoo logged 57 minutes in double OT at Milwaukee, March 8, 1978.
FEB 16: Knicks run off a season-high 16 straight points in the first quarter, en route to 117-87 win over Dallas at MSG, and place season-high seven players in double figure scoring.
FEB 17: Ewing (season high 43 points) and Starks (career high 39) combine for 82 of the Knicks' 124 points in dominating a 124-116 win at Charlotte. . .Knicks produce two 30+ scorers for second time this season (Ewing and Starks both times). . .Rivers (20,000 career minutes) and Mason (1,000 career rebounds) reach career milestones.
FEB 21: Ewing and Riley play major roles in the All-Star classic at Utah. . .Making his sixth All-Star appearance, Ewing scores 15 points (7-11 FGA) with team-high 10 rebounds, and sends the game into overtime with clutch 15-foot baseline jumper with :08.1 left to knot score at 119-119. . .Riley pilots the East squad in 135-132 OT loss, and joins Alex Hannum and Lenny Wilkens as the only men to coach both East and West All-Star squads.
FEB 24: Down by 13 points (81-68) with 6:39 to play, Knicks outscore Bucks 23-9 the rest of the way for a stirring 91-90 victory at the Bradley Center. . .Knicks are whistled for five technical fouls, including two on Riley, who is ejected for the first time as Knicks coach (first ejection for a Knicks head coach since John McLeod on January 14, 1991 at Atlanta).
FEB 26: Knicks lose at Detroit, 108-80 as Joe Dumars scores 43 points (season's highest opponent point total) and goes 7-11 from three-point range (seven homers are an all-time record for a Knicks opponent). . .Pistons go 12-19 from Downtown, the most team home runs ever for a Knicks opponent, as well.
FEB 28 - Knicks are held to 76 points — tying their season low — in 102-76 nationally-televised (NBC) loss at New Jersey. . .Chris Dudley's 21 rebounds are an opposition high for the season.

MARCH (12-2; 48-20)

MARCH 4: A night of team and individual milestones in 125-111 win over Utah at MSG. . .Knicks tie a season high with 125 points in the game. . .Score 70 points in the first half for their highest-scoring half since they had 71 in one half vs. Milwaukee, Nov 5, 1991. . .Knicks shoot .635 from the field (54-85 FGA), a season high and their best since they posted .640 (55-86 FGA) against New Jersey on March 30, 1991. . .Knicks shoot a blistering .696 (32-46 FGA) in first half. . .Campbell (12-13 FGA) scores a season-high 28 points. . .Starks suffers broken nose in a first-period collision with Jeff Malone, but returns (wearing facemask) to score 22 points (including 4-6 from Downtown). . .Knicks tie a season high with three players in 20+ scoring (Ewing 28, Campbell 28, Starks 22).
MARCH 8: In front of a star-studded crowd in a playoff-type atmosphere (courtside faces include Dustin Hoffman, Danny Aiello, Gregory Hines, Spike Lee, John McEnroe, Arnold Schwarzenegger, Ed Bradley, Bill Murray and Branford Marsalis) Knicks outlast Shaq and Magic in OT, 109-107. . .Ewing scores 37 with 17 rebounds, while Oakley scores a season-high 18 points (7-8 FGA). . .Campbell completes a span in which he hit 13 straight FGA.
MARCH 10: Knicks snap an eight-game losing streak against the Lakers at MSG with a 110-104 victory, as Pat Riley earns his first win over his former team (third try). . .It's Knicks' first win over Lakers at the Garden since Jan 3, 1984.
MARCH 12: Knicks shoot an amazing 15-18 FGA in the second quarter (including 14 straight FGM), en route to a 109-98 win at Washington.
MARCH 14: Anthony (10) and Starks (10) become first Knick duo to have double-digit assists in the same game since Mark Jackson (13) and Gerald Wilkins (10) vs. Clippers on Jan 1, 1988, as Knicks beat Pacers, 121-90 at MSG. . .All five starters score in double-figure points for first time this season. . .Game was originally scheduled for the night before, but was postponed due to hazardous weather conditions, marking just the fifth documented postponement in Knicks history.
MARCH 18: Knicks break a six-year hex in Cleveland with a convincing 115-95 victory over the Cavs at the Richfield Coliseum. . .Rivers (subbing for injured Anthony) dishes off a season-high 15 assists despite suffering a broken nose in third-period collision with Mark Price. . .Knicks record their first win in Cleveland since Nov 25, 1987, and snap an 11-game losing streak at the Coliseum. Knicks complete the cycle of snapping all three double-digit road losing streaks in the same year (23 @ Boston, 13 @ Chicago, 11 @ Cleveland). . .Cavs are whistled for six technical fouls, resulting in ejections of Brad Daugherty, Larry Nance and coach Lenny Wilkens.
MARCH 21: Knicks record season-high ninth straight win, a 115-96 victory over San Antonio at MSG before a nationwide audience on NBC and the 32nd home sellout crowd of the season, breaking the club record of 31 set in 1972-73. . .It's Riley's 629th career win, enabling him to pass Doug Moe (628) and move into 11th place on all-time NBA list.
MARCH 23: Knicks' season-high nine-game winning streak is snapped with 121-92 loss at Phoenix, as Suns record year's highest opposing point total. . .Knicks' 29-point loss is worst of campaign. . .Game is marred by altercation involving Doc Rivers and Kevin Johnson at end of first half. . .Total of 12 technical fouls are called, with ejections of Rivers, Mason, Starks, Anthony, Johnson, Danny Ainge and Suns assistant coach Scotty Robertson. . .Ultimately, Johnson and Rivers are suspended by NBA for two games, Anthony for five.
MARCH 26: Knicks snap two-game losing streak with emphatic 105-95 win at Los Angeles, giving them a season sweep (2-0) over the Lakers for the first time since 1983-84. . .Mason pours in a career-high 30 points and hauls in a game-high 16 rebounds in massive 41-minute effort. . .Starks dishes off a career-high 14 assists in playing all 48 minutes, becoming the first Knick to record a regular season complete game since Mark Jackson at Lakers, Jan 22, 1988.
MARCH 28: Rivers ties a season high with 15 assists in 94-84 win at Golden State.
MARCH 30: Knicks cap a 12-2 month with a 109-87 win over Sacramento at MSG. . .It's the Knicks' winningest month in 20 years, since they went 12-3 in January, 1973.

THE PLAYOFFS (9-6)

VS. INDIANA

GAME ONE, April 30: KNICKS 107, Pacers 104: Knicks start post-season run by holding off furious Pacer rally for Game One win. . .Ewing leads Knicks with 25 points (11-19 FGA) and nine rebounds, while Smith (10-16 FGA) scores playoff career high 24 points. . .Reggie Miller lights up the night for Indiana with a game-high 32 points, going 17-17 FTA to tie an NBA record for the most FTM in a playoff game without a miss. . .Knicks lead by 10 with 3:18 left, but Indiana goes on 12-2 run (Miller scoring six of the 12 points), tying the score at 104-104 on LaSalle Thompson's jumper with :30.4 left. . .Ewing drills a 13-foot fadeaway with :10.8 to go to give the Knicks a two-point lead, and, after Miller loses the ball out of bounds, cans one of two FTA for a 107-104 lead with :05.0 left. . .Knicks hang on as Miller's three-point bomb misses at the buzzer.

GAME TWO, May 2: KNICKS 101, Pacers 91: Knicks rally from double-digit deficit to take 2-0 series lead. . .Starks leads New York with playoff career high 29 points, along with 11 assists. . .Pacers lead by 15 points (59-44) two minutes into the third quarter, but Knicks outscore Indiana 27-13 for the rest of the period (including an 11-2 run) to trail by just one point (72-71) after three. . .Knicks then outscore Indiana 30-19 in the fourth quarter en route to victory, taking the lead for good (at 79-76) when Starks cans a three-pointer with 9:18 left. . .Knicks outscore Pacers 57-36 in the second half.

GAME THREE, May 4: Pacers 116, KNICKS 93: Pacers respond to welcome home from crowd of 11,380 at Market Square Arena to stay alive in series and cut Knicks' lead to two games to one. . .Ewing leads Knicks with 19 points and 13 rebounds. . .Miller spearheads Indiana's winning effort with 36 points (14-22 FGA), with Detlef Schrempf adding 29 points and Rik Smits 25. . .Indiana outscores New York 38-15 in the third quarter, shooting a staggering .820 (14-17 FGA) for the period. . .Third period also marked with ejection of Starks via a Phase II flagrant foul. . .Pacers shoot .603 (44-73 FGA) for the game, after Knicks did not allow over .526 from the field in any game during the regular season.

GAME FOUR, May 6: KNICKS 109, Pacers 100 (OT): Late heroics of Rivers, Ewing, Starks and Mason key come-from-behind OT win and nail down series clincher before raucous 13,059 at Market Square Arena. . .Ewing leads Knicks with 28 points and 13 rebounds, Rivers scores 21 points (4-6 from Downtown), Mason pours in career playoff high 25 points (11-13 FGA) and Oakley adds 13 points and 13 boards. . .Miller leads Pacers with 33 points, his third 30+ game of the series. . .Pacers lead by 12 (72-60) with 2:37 left in third, but Knicks end the quarter with 10-0 run to trail by just 72-70 going into the final quarter. . .Knicks lead by three (92-89) with 1:37 left, but Pacers score five straight points, capping the rally with Miller's three-point bomb that gives them a 94-92 lead with :52.0 left. . .Oakley's layup ties the score at 94-94 with :34.6 left, but Knicks are denied victory as Starks' putback of Ewing's long miss rims the basket as the buzzer sounds. . .But Rivers spearheads Knicks forces in OT, hitting three, three-point FG in a span of 1:57 as New York never trails in the extra session, outscoring Indiana 15-6. . .Knicks hold Miller to just three points in the fourth period + OT.

1992-93 HIGHLIGHTS

VS. CHARLOTTE

GAME ONE, May 9: KNICKS 111, Hornets 95: Knicks use fourth-quarter blitz to wipe out double-digit Charlotte lead and get the jump in best-of-seven Conference Semis. . .Ewing pours in 33 points while Oakley scores 17 (7-10 FGA) with 10 rebounds. . .Alonzo Mourning leads Charlotte with 27 points and 13 rebounds, while former Knick Johnny Newman adds 18. . .After Knicks trail by as many as 12, Ewing scores nine points in fourth quarter and Knicks' defense holds Charlotte to 7-19 FGA as New York outscores Hornets 31-15 in the period en route to victory. . .Knicks post 33 assists to Charlotte's 18.

GAME TWO, May 12: KNICKS 105, Hornets 101 (OT): In still another come-from-behind effort, Knicks storm down the stretch to send the game into OT, then rally again in extra session to take a 2-0 lead in series. . .Ewing leads all scorers with 34 points, Starks adds 25, and Oakley posts game-high 16 rebounds. . .Mourning leads Charlotte with 24 points. . .Knicks trail by five (76-71) going into fourth quarter. . .Knicks don't score a field goal in a stretch of 7:46 in the third, as Charlotte outscores them 18-4 in that span. . .Hornets lead by as many as 13 points in the fourth quarter, and by 11 points (89-78) with 4:45 left before Knicks engineer pulsating last-ditch rally. . .Knicks outscore Charlotte 15-4 in the game's final 4:31, climaxing the rally on Hubert Davis' three-point bomb that knots the count at 93-93 with :44.3 left. . .Ewing scores eight points in OT, including the 15-footer with :35.7 left that gives NY the lead for good (101-99).

GAME THREE, May 14: Hornets 110, KNICKS 106 (2OT): Hornets cut Knicks' series edge to 2-1 by outlasting New Yorkers in double-OT marathon before 23,698 at the Hive, the second straight OT game of the series and the Knicks' third of the post-season. . .Ewing leads New York with 26 points and 14 rebounds in monstrous 47-minute effort; Oakley adds 13 rebounds and 19 points. . .Mourning leads Hornets with game-high 34 points, while Johnson adds 31. . .From the second quarter on, neither team leads by more than six points. . .Knicks take six-point lead (90-84) as Starks cans a three-point FG with 3:34 left in fourth, but Hornets end regulation with a 10-4 spurt, climaxed by Mourning's layup which knots the count at 94-94 with :30.9 left and sets up OT. . .Muggsy Bogues' 15-footer with :53.8 left in the second extra session gives the Hornets the lead to stay (108-106). . .Knicks go just 9-12 FTA for the game, while Charlotte is 25-35 FTA. . .It's Knicks' first double-OT playoff game since 1973.

GAME FOUR, May 16: KNICKS 94, Hornets 92: Rolando Blackman's 20-foot jumper from the top of the key with :05.4 left gives Knicks a 3-1 series edge in still another heart-stopper before roaring 23,698 at the Hive. . .Ewing records game-high points (28) and rebounds (10). . .Charles Smith adds 19 points and Herb Williams provides huge lift off the bench with 10 points (4-4 FGA) in 13 minutes in relief of foul-dogged Ewing. . .Johnson leads Hornets with 24 points. . .Knicks lead by as many as 15 points in third quarter before Hornets tie the score midway through the fourth. . .Knicks forge ahead by six (92-86) with less than three minutes left, but Hornets tie again with six straight points, climaxed by Johnson's short jumper with just :28.2 left. . .Then Blackman steps up and cans the game's biggest shot, and Knicks hang on as Hornets can't get off a shot in their final possession, with Bogues finally turning the ball over to Ewing with :00.2 left.

GAME FIVE, May 18: KNICKS 105, Hornets 101: Knicks delight Garden faithful by closing out the Hornets and advancing to the Eastern Conference Finals for the first time in 19 years. . .Oakley turns in stellar outing with team-highs 21 points (10-15 FGA) and 11 rebounds, while Starks adds 20 points and game-high nine assists. . .Gill leads Charlotte with game-high 26 points, while Mourning adds 22 points and game-high 12 rebounds. . .Knicks never trail in the game, leading by as many as 14 points in fourth quarter. . .Hornets work the lead down to three in the final minute-and-a-half, but Starks' three-point FG with 1:15 left and an Oakley layup with :55.1 to go settle matters. . .Knicks' triumph caps high-tension series in which only one contest (Game One) was decided by more than four points.

VS. CHICAGO

GAME ONE, May 23: KNICKS 98, Bulls 90: Knicks outscore Chicago 54-42 in the second half (going 18-28 FGA (.643) for the half) and take series lead on two-time champs before another Garden sellout. . .Ewing and Starks each score 25 points. . .Ewing adds a game-high 17 rebounds, while Starks is 5-7 from Downtown to establish a club playoff mark for most homers in a game. . .Bulls' Michael Jordan scores a game-high 27 points on 10-27 FGA. . .Bulls lead by as many as six points midway through the third quarter, but Knicks outscore Chicago 17-8 to end the period. . .Knicks seal matters in the fourth as Starks connects for four three-point FG in a period of 6:20 en route to scoring 13 points in the quarter. . .Knicks outscore Bulls 43-29 in game's final 19 minutes.

1992-93 HIGHLIGHTS

MAY 23 (con'd)

. .Knicks' win ends a nine-game Chicago playoff win streak.

GAME TWO, May 25: KNICKS 96, Bulls 91: Knicks use a 28-14 third quarter advantage to gain a double-figure lead, then hold off onrushing Bulls down the stretch to go up 2-0 in series before roaring Garden house. . .Ewing leads Knicks with 26 points, while Oakley adds 14 points and hauls in game-high 16 rebounds. . .Rivers goes 3-3 from Downtown en route to 21 points. . .Jordan scores game-high 36 points for Chicago (12-32 FGA), while Scottie Pippen adds 17 points in 37 minutes. . .Knicks lead by as many as 14 points, and are up by 12 (83-71) with just over seven minutes left, but Bulls charge to a 17-8 run and close the gap to three points (91-88) on John Paxson's two FTM with 1:26 left. . .But, after two FT misses by Bill Cartwright, Starks splits the Chicago defense for "The Dunk": a driving, lefthanded slam with :47.3 left, giving the Knicks a five-point lead. Oakley's two FTM with :12.7 to go seal the verdict. . .Both Pippen (technical foul) and Greg Anthony (flagrant foul) are ejected in the fourth quarter.

GAME THREE, May 29: Bulls 103, KNICKS 83: Total team effort by Bulls upon return home gets the defending champs into the win column and holds New York to its lowest point total of the post-season. . .Ewing leads Knicks with 21 points, while Mason (12) is Knicks' only other double-digit scorer. . .Pippen delights sellout Stadium throng with game-high 29 points on 10-12 FGA. Jordan adds 22 points (3-18 FGA, but 16-17 FTA), game-high 11 assists and eight boards, coming within two rebounds of a triple-double. . .Knicks commit 20 turnovers (20 Bulls points). . .Total of five technical fouls are called (Knicks 3, Bulls 2), with Starks ejected in the fourth quarter with two techs.

GAME FOUR, May 31: Bulls 105, KNICKS 95: Jordan pours in 54 points (18-30 FGA, 6-9 from Downtown, 12-14 FTA) — the highest point total ever against the Knicks in post-season play — as Bulls hold off a late Knicks rush and even the series. . .Michael's performance tops Sam Jones' 51 points for Boston on March 28, 1967 as the best scoring output ever against New York in the playoffs. It's also Jordan's fifth career 40+ playoff game against the Knicks. . .Ewing and Starks lead Knicks with 24 points each. . .After trailing by as much as 12 points, Knicks rally in the final minutes and get to within four points (94-90) on Oakley's FTM with 2:24 left, but Pippen (17-foot jumper + FTM with 2:09 to go) and Jordan (15-footer with 1:36 left) immediately answer to all but seal Knicks' fate.

GAME FIVE, June 2: Bulls 97, KNICKS 94: Bulls hang on at finish to snap Knicks' 27-game home winning streak (combined regular season and playoffs) and take 3-2 series lead with third straight triumph. . .It's Knicks' first loss at MSG since Jan 28, 1993 (110-105 to Hawks). . .Ewing leads Knicks with 33 points, his 13th career 30+ playoff scoring game (third this year). Mason adds 17 points (8-11 FGA) off the bench. . .Jordan records the sixth playoff triple-double ever vs. Knicks (since 1980) with 29 points, 14 assists and 10 rebounds, including 17 straight Bulls points in a stretch of 12:16 in the third-fourth quarters. Pippen adds 28 points and game-high 11 rebounds. . .With 9:00 left, Bulls enjoy their biggest lead (85-77), but Ewing's fifth career three-point FG (second in playoffs) at 8:57 begins a 16-7 Knicks run that gives NY a one-point lead (93-92) with less than a minute-and-a-half to go. . .But B.J. Armstrong cans a three-pointer with 1:16 left to put Bulls up 95-93, and Chicago never trails again. . .Following one FTM by Charles Smith and Chicago's subsequent 24-second violation, Knicks have one final possesion with a chance for victory. But Bulls' defense denies Smith on four separate chances under the basket, and Armstrong's last-second breakaway layup ices the verdict. . .Both teams are handcuffed from the line, as Bulls are 16-23 FTA (.696) and Knicks 20-35 FTA (.571). . .It's Knicks' first game ever in the month of June.

GAME SIX, June 4: Bulls 96, KNICKS 88: Bulls outlast Knicks in defensive struggle for fourth straight victory, clinching the Eastern Conference title to roaring approval of 18,676 at the Stadium. . .It marks the third straight year (fourth in last five) in which Knicks are ousted in playoffs by Chicago, and catapults Bulls into the NBA Finals en route to third straight NBA title. . .Ewing records game-highs 26 points (13 in fourth quarter) and 13 rebounds. . .Jordan leads Bulls with 25 points, while Pippen adds 24. . .Bulls lead by as many as 10 points in first half. . .With 6:32 left, Ewing cans a 17-footer to bring Knicks within two (79-77), but New York would get no closer. . .Ewing's short jumper with 1:24 to go makes it a five-point game (87-82), but Pippen responds with a three-point bomb with 1:01 left that all but decides the issue and ends Knicks season. . .Knicks repeat their Game Five troubles from the line, going 17-25 FTA (.680), while Bulls are 27-29 FTA (.931). . .Knicks soundly outrebound Bulls, 42-26 (26 boards for Chicago are within three of all-time playoff low for Knicks opponent). . .It marks the fourth straight year in which Knicks are eliminated in the playoffs by the eventual NBA Champs.

Rules of Interest

ACTIVE LIST: Teams are required to reduce active rosters to a maximum of 12 players the day before the beginning of the regular season. Teams must have a minimum of 11 players on the active list at all times and have a minimum of eight players in uniform for all regular season games, nine players for an NBA Playoff game. Offseason roster limit is 20 players.

INJURED LIST: When a player is unable, due to injury or illness, to perform his duties, his name may be transferred from the active list to the injured list. Players placed on the injured list must sit out at least five regular season games (The exception is only at the end of the regular season).

PLAYOFF ROSTERS: Each team participating in the 1994 NBA Playoffs must submit a list of 12 players on the day following the final date of the regular season. These players are eligible for the duration of the playoffs and nine must be in uniform for each playoff game.

TEN-DAY CONTRACTS: On or after January 10, 1994, teams may replace injured players by signing free agents to a contract for 10 days. A player can sign two "10-day" contracts with the same team, but a subsequent contract with the same team must be for the remainder of the season.

WAIVERS: Teams terminate or release a player by a process called "waivers". Clubs wishing to place a player on waivers notify the NBA office which accordingly notifies the other 26 clubs. From August 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim a player off waivers within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at other times may be claimed within 10 days. If no team claims the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one team claims such player, the club with the lesser record (at the time) is awarded the player.

GUARANTEED CONTRACTS: As of January 10, 1994, all player contracts are guaranteed to be paid through the end of the regular season.

TRADING DEADLINE: The deadline for the teams to make trades is always the 16th "Thursday" of the regular season. This season's trading deadline is FEBRUARY 24, 1994 AT 9:00 P.M. EASTERN TIME.

NEW YORK
KNICKERBOCKERS

NEW YORK KNICKERBOCKERS HISTORY

A charter member of the National Basketball Association, the New York Knickerbockers Basketball Team is a cornerstone franchise which has a storied past and is steeped in a grand tradition.

November 1, 1946 marked the first game for the Basketball Association of America, forerunner to the NBA, as the Knickerbockers edged the Toronto Huskies, 68-66 at famed Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto. Former Manhattan College mentor Neil Cohalan was the head coach that first season. Ossie Schectman, Stan Stutz, Jake Weber, Ralph Kaplowitz and Leo Gottlieb made up the inaugural starting lineup.

The sagacious Ned Irish, a legend now enshrined in the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., was the Knicks' founding father and one of the neophyte circuit's pioneers. His steadfast efforts paved the way for future successes.

New York was playoff-bound in each of its first 10 seasons, nine of those under the generalship of Joe Lapchick, the apocryphal chieftain whose cunning and 326 career wins helped carve him a niche in the Springfield Shrine.

The Knicks made three consecutive trips to the NBA Finals, in 1951, 1952 and 1953. But they would be denied the summit all three times: first by Rochester, and then by the dynastic Minneapolis Lakers in 1952 and 1953.

Garden City's Carl Braun was the field leader in those days, averaging 16.1 ppg with deft shooting during a career which spanned two decades.

Braun's teammates during those stellar seasons included All-Stars such as Harry Gallatin, the ferocious rebounder who still holds the club record of 610 consecutive games played; the great Dick McGuire, an ever-present figure who set the standard in playmaking by leading the club in assists for six straight seasons (1950-56), and popular frontliner Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton. The greatness of the early Knicks has been certified with the enshrinements of Gallatin and McGuire into the Hall of Fame, joining Lapchick and Irish.

The Knicks had their ups and downs from the late '50s into the '60s, but fiery Richie Guerin kept things lively with his sensational scoring exploits and hard-nosed play. Guerin was the first Knick to score 50 points in a game when he authored a 57-point explosion on February 11, 1959 against Syracuse, just one of 11 40-point performances during his career. California "imports" Willie Naulls and Ken Sears were also major Knick heroes in those days.

The head coaching assignments during that era were handled by the likes of Vince Boryla, Fuzzy Levane, Braun, Eddie Donovan and McGuire, all knowledgeable basketball men who each coached for at least two seasons.

But the Knicks franchise reached its zenith under the venerable William "Red" Holzman, another Knick legend with a place in the Springfield pantheon and one of the game's winningest coaches, who took over as head coach in 1967.

Soon after Holzman had assumed the helm of the Knickerbockers, the team's "Golden Era" was launched as the Knicks climbed to basketball's pinnacle in 1969-70 and were crowned NBA Champions, earning the team's first world title.

Holzman's band was a group of proud warriors who thrived on pressure, teamwork and defense. Smart drafting and shrewd trades by Holzman and general manager Eddie Donovan laid the foundation for success.

"The Captain", center Willis Reed, will forever be remembered for stepping onto the Garden court, in spite of his severely injured knee, to the deafening roar of a capacity crowd. . .the impetus for a stirring and decisive seventh game triumph in the Finals against the Los Angeles Lakers.

Along with Reed's contributions, the unprecedented success was keyed by fabled teammates such as Walt "Clyde" Frazier, "Dollar Bill" Bradley, Dave DeBusschere and Dick Barnett, with "Minutemen" Mike Riordan, Cazzie Russell and Dave Stallworth the understudies.

Frazier was known for a cat-like defense, DeBusschere for his toughness and rebounding, and Bradley for his smarts — all could shoot the ball, too.

Earl "The Pearl" Monroe, an arch-rival of Frazier when he played for the Baltimore Bullets, joined Clyde to form the "Rolls Royce" backcourt in 1971-72. Also acquired was perennial All-Star Jerry Lucas. In 1972-73, a veteran Knick squad earned its second NBA Championship, again defeating the Lakers in the Finals.

In tribute to the championship heroes, the retired numbers of Reed, Bradley, Frazier, Barnett, DeBusschere and Monroe hang from the Garden rafters. Reed, Bradley, Frazier, DeBusschere, Monroe and Lucas have all joined Holzman in the Springfield Hall of Fame.

New York was a playoff force for nine straight seasons, but by the mid-'70s a period of lean times fell on the ballclub for the better part of the decade.

A brief turnabout took place in the early 1980's. In 1983-84, coach Hubie Brown guided the Knicks to a memorable first-round victory over Detroit, then the Knicks pushed the eventual NBA Champion Boston Celtics to seven games before falling in the Eastern Semis. That was an era when Bernard King developed into perhaps the greatest offensive threat in club history, becoming the first Knick ever to top the NBA in scoring with 32.9 ppg in 1984-85.

May 12, 1985 — Mother's Day at the world famous Waldorf Astoria — had all of New York City in a euphoric state when the Knicks won the rights to Georgetown's Patrick Ewing in the first-ever NBA Lottery. But a crippling injury to King, and league record manpower games lost befell the rest of the club, enough to offset that optimism and send the Knicks reeling.

A three-year playoff dry spell ended in 1987-88 when, under general manager Al Bianchi and head coach Rick Pitino and buoyed by Rookie of the Year Mark Jackson, the Knicks gained a playoff spot in the season's final game. The next year, with newly-acquired Charles Oakley and Kiki Vandeweghe on board, the Knicks won 52 games (including 26 straight at home) and the Atlantic Division title. In 1989-90, behind an MVP-caliber season by Ewing, the Knicks rose from an 0-2 hole and defeated the arch-rival Celtics in the first playoff round with an emotional Game Five triumph on the Boston Garden parquet.

Club president Dave Checketts — named on March 1, 1991 — and vice president and general manager Ernie Grunfeld righted the Knicks' course after several disappointing seasons by: hiring four-time championship coach Pat Riley; engineering a series of moves to bring the Knicks under the salary cap for the first time ever; and making major deals to put first Xavier McDaniel and then Rolando Blackman, Tony Campbell, Doc Rivers and Charles Smith in Knicks uniforms.

In 1991-92, the first full year of the new regime, the Knicks electrified the city with a 51-win season and emotional playoff series against Detroit and Chicago. The following year — 1992-93 — the Knicks again won the Atlantic Division crown and rewrote the club record book with a franchise-high-tying 60 wins, a League-leading defense that allowed only 95.4 ppg, another All-Everything season from Ewing, a club record 37 home wins before 39 Garden sellouts, and, ultimately, their first appearance in the Eastern Conference Finals in nearly two decades.

Coming off two of the most memorable seasons in their history, the Knicks of the '90s are earmarked for success, with the new and strong team at the top promising to restore the franchise to the lofty plateaus of the past.

IN THE KNICKS TRADITION

A Knickerbocker hero is a hero for all New York. For all time.

The streets and playgrounds serve as the stage for the constant stream of youthful generations with schoolyard dreams. Faces change, time doesn't stop. But echoing over the scene are the names of the men who made basketball a way of life in this city, the men who forged a legacy of greatness in orange and blue.

Lapchick and Holzman. Gallatin, McGuire and Clifton. Braun and Guerin. Reed and Frazier and DeBusschere and Monroe and the others who earned the diamond ring of a champion. More, newer, younger men whose stories are being written right now, right before your eyes.

Sometimes, fame is a tangible thing, like a Dick McGuire entering the shrine at Springfield after what seemed like decades of waiting. But real fame, true fame, comes when they talk about you in the schoolyards, when they see you in the mind's eye, when they remember your name and think back and say to themselves, "Yesss. . ."

That's what being a hero in New York is all about.

FIVE FOR FAME — McGuire centers for fellow Hall of Famers (L to R) Ann Meyers, Julius Erving, Calvin Murphy and Bill Walton.

KNICKS ALL-TIME TRIPLE DOUBLES

According to research initiated by Philadelphia's Harvey Pollack, the dean of NBA statisticians, the Knicks have had 27 triple-doubles (double figures in points, assists and rebounds) since the stat was first compiled in 1979-80. Micheal Ray Richardson is the all-time club leader with 18, and also holds the Knicks' one-season record with seven triple-doubles in both 1979-80 and in 1981-82. The last Knicks triple-double was recorded by Mark Jackson on Nov. 22, 1991 at Detroit (12 pts, 13 ast, 10 reb). The complete year-by-year breakdown:

FOUR-POINT PLAYS

John Starks' three-point mastery resulted in a record-tying three four-point plays (three-point FG + FTM) during the 1991-92 season. Starks' trio of four-baggers matched the all-time one-season NBA mark set by Denver's Michael Adams in both 1987-88 and 1989-90. Prior to Starks' Downtown heroics, Trent Tucker's memorable four-master in the 1989 Playoffs against Chicago represented the only four-point play in Knicks history since the three-point rule was established in 1979-80. The complete breakdown of all-time Knicks four-pointers:

MANPOWER GAMES MISSED

In 1985-86, Pollack began the practice of computing the total number of manpower games missed due to illness/injury for each NBA club. That season, the Knicks missed a total of 465 games due to illness/injury, still the highest figure ever recorded in that category. (Bernard King missed the entire season, while Bill Cartwright missed all but two games.)

The Knicks' rundown of manpower games missed since 1985-86:

1985-86:	465	1989-90:	111
1986-87:	256	1990-91:	144
1987-88:	71	1991-92:	84

ALL-TIME GARDEN ATTENDANCE

In 47 seasons as a charter member of the NBA, the Knicks have drawn over 21 million fans during regular season play at Madison Square Garden, including last season's club record 804,840.

Key dates in Knicks home attendance history:

1946-47 thru 1959-60: Knicks split their home schedule between Garden III (49th St. & 8th Ave.) and the 69th Regiment Armory (23rd & Lexington Ave.).

January 16, 1960: Last game at 69th Regiment Armory.

1960-61: Knicks play entire home schedule at MSG for the first time.

February 10, 1968: Last game at Garden III.

February 14, 1968: First game in present Garden (33rd St. & 8th Ave.)

February 14, 1991: Knicks become first team in NBA history to reach the 20-million mark in all-time home attendance (combined Gardens III & IV).

Stargazing at MSG

Through their history as a charter member of the NBA, the Knickerbockers have played host to three NBA All-Star Games, in 1954, 1955 and 1968. All three of those contests were held in the old Garden on 49th Street (there has not been an NBA All-Star Game in the present Garden).

A rundown of the Garden's three NBA All-Star Games:

		High Scorer		Hi Rebounder
Date	Winner, Score	East	West	East	West	Att.
Jan 21, 1954	East, 98-93 (OT)	Cousy 20	Pollard 23	Gallatin 18	Foust 15	16, 487
Jan 18, 1955	East, 100-91	Cousy 20	Pollard 17	Gallatin 14	Mikkelsen/Pettit 9	15,564
Jan 23, 1968	East, 144-124	Havlicek 26	Baylor 22	Russell 9	Lee 11	18,422

KNICKS DATE BOOK

Over the course of time, Knicks fans and media always inquire as to the exact dates of some of the most unforgettable games and important events in the club's history. Here's a listing of the "most-requested" Knickerbocker dates:

JUNE 6,1946—
The Knickerbockers are born at the first organizational meeting of the Basketball Association of America. New York is granted a charter franchise, along with Boston, Philadelphia, Providence, Toronto, Washington, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Pittsburgh and St. Louis.

NOVEMBER 1, 1946—
The First Game. Knicks 68, Toronto Huskies 66 at Toronto's famed Maple Leaf Gardens.

JANUARY 21, 1954 —
The old Garden hosts the NBA All-Star Game for the first time, and 16,487 see the East triumph in overtime, 98-93 behind Bob Cousy's 20 points. George Mikan's two free throws with no time left in regulation send the game into the extra session.

MARCH 2, 1962 —
Despite placing three players in 30+ scoring (Richie Guerin 39, Cleveland Buckner 33, Willie Naulls 31), Knicks lose to Philadelphia Warriors, 169-147, in a game played at Hershey, Pa.

DECEMBER 27, 1967—
Red Holzman named head coach, replacing Dick McGuire.

JANUARY 23, 1968 —
The most recent NBA All-Star Game in New York: a 144-124 East triumph before 18,422 in one of the last major events at Garden III (there has never been an All-Star Game in the present Garden).

FEBRUARY 10 and 14,1968—
Out with the old, in with the new. On the 10th, the Knicks play the last game at the old Garden; then, four days later, it's the first game at the new Garden. The Knicks win both, taking the finale on 49th Street 115-97 over the 76ers, then winning their first game in their new palace above Penn Station, 114-102 over San Diego.

DECEMBER 19, 1968—
The Trade. Walt Bellamy and Howard Komives to Detroit for Dave DeBusschere .

NOVEMBER 28,1969—
"What a game! What a game!" shouts TV voice Bob Wolff. Knicks score six points in the final 16 seconds to defeat Cincinnati, 106-105, and run their winning streak to a then-NBA record 18 straight games. The game is played at the old Cleveland Arena, later the original home of the Cavs and immortal in rock 'n roll history as the site of Alan Freed's legendary 1952 Moondog Coronation Ball.

MAY 8,1970—
Champs. Knicks 113, Lakers 99 in Game Seven of the finals at MSG.

NOVEMBER 18,1972—
The greatest comeback of them all. Trailing 86-68, the Knicks run off 19 straight points in the game's final 5:11 to defeat Milwaukee, 87-86, in probably the most famous regular season game in the club's history.

MAY 10,1973—
Champs again. Knicks 102, Lakers 93 in Game Five of the finals at The Forum.

JANUARY 31, FEBRUARY 1, 1984—
Back-to-back 50-point games for Bernard King (at San Antonio and Dallas).

MARCH 23, 1985—
On his way to leading the NBA with a 32.9 ppg average, Bernard King suffers a torn anterior cruciate ligament of the right knee in a game at Kansas City.

MAY 12,1985—
Knicks win the first-ever NBA Lottery, enabling them to select Georgetown center Patrick Ewing in the upcoming draft.

MAY 6,1990—
Knicks complete one of the most stunning turnarounds in playoff history with a 121-114 victory at Boston, enabling them to snap a 26-game losing streak at Boston Garden and become only the third team in League history to rally from an 0-2 deficit and win a best-of-five playoff series.

MAY 31, 1991—

DECEMBER 18, 1992 —
Knicks end eight years of frustration at Boston Garden, routing the Celtics 113-87 to break a 23-game regular season losing streak on the fabled parquet floor (first regular season win at Boston since February 29, 1984).

WHY "KNICKERBOCKERS"?

The term "Knickerbockers" traces its origin back to the Dutch settlers who came to the New World—and especially to what is now New York—in the 1600s. Specifically, it refers to the style of pants the settlers wore... pants that rolled up just below the knee, which were known as "Knickerbockers" or, of course, "knickers."

Through history, the Dutch settler "Knickerbocker" character has become synonymous with New York City. The city's most popular symbol of the late 19th and early 20th centuries was "Father Knickerbocker," complete with cotton wig, three-cornered hat, belt-buckled shoes and, of course, knickered pants.

When the Knicks were formed in 1946, their original insignia was a Willard Mullin cartoon of a Father Knickerbocker figure dribbling a basketball. In keeping with another New York tradition, the team's colors have always (except for a brief period in the early '80's) been blue, orange and white... the official colors of New York City. As can best be determined, the nickname was the brainchild of the team's founder, the legendary Ned Irish.

Why "Knickerbockers"? Why not?

LIGHT

KNICKS CITY DANCERS

Currently in their third season, the Knicks City Dancers have become an integral part of the total entertainment experience that comprises a night at Madison Square Garden.

Under the expert direction of Petra Pope Belton, the Dancers have captivated Garden audiences with their explosive, high-energy routines.

In addition, the Dancers serve as goodwill ambassadors for the Knicks, participating in such charitable endeavors as: last year's Pediatric AIDS Foundation fair in Greenwich Village, the Special Olympics, the God's Love We Deliver benefit at Sotheby's, and the Boys Brotherhood Republic, for which they raised $22,000 in a matchup against the Laker Girls on TV's "Family Feud".

The 1993-94 Knicks City Dancers: Kimberly Wells (captain), Kristen Balon, Nadine Ellis, Heather Errico, Paula Fonseca, Cathyann Lewis Gallagher, Paige Harmon, Anna Kelly, Rebecca Hing, Eileen Kuwaye, Maribel Paredes, Mia Pitts, Kara Rekeda, Laura Shehy, Elizabeth Story, Traci Swain.

PROMOTIONS AND SPECIAL EVENTS

A record-setting season on the court for the Knickerbockers was also one of non-stop fun and excitement off the court! With a host of new events and old favorites on tap for 1993-94, here's a look back at some of the very special days (and nights) from last season:

*The Knicks broke a franchise record with their 32nd home sellout on March 21 against San Antonio. On that day, the Knicks celebrated Fan Appreciation Day, with over $40,000 worth of gifts and prizes being awarded to lucky fans, including: Bulova Watches, international trips from Delta, Continental and Air France, American Express gift cheques, and much more.

*An annual favorite is the "MetLife Knick of the Month" award, which culminates at year's end with the naming of the "MetLife Knick of the Year". The program, now in its ninth season, awards monthly donations to each winner's charity of choice. Last season, MetLife made donations to Louise Wise Services, the HandiKids Special Needs Camp (in memory of Johnny Most), Boys Brotherhood Republic, United Negro College Fund, American Cancer Society, Policemen's and Firemen's Widows and Orphans Fund, and the Charles Smith Educational Foundation.

*Also awarding individual excellence is the Sharp Electronics "Sharpshooter of the Month" award, now in its seventh season. Last year, Sharp made donations to the Creative Arts Workshop, Hale House, Virginia Union University, Alpha Phi Alpha Senior Citizens Center and Downey Familes For Youth through the season-long program.

*A playoff highlight was the Starter sportswear/FootLocker T-shirt given to all fans attending Game Five of the Eastern Conference finals, with the message "Take'm by the Horns". Since the Playoffs, these shirts have been sighted everywhere from Picadilly Circus in London to Candlestick Park in San Francisco!

*Another exciting promotion was the "Nobody Beats The Wiz" audio cassette of the famous "GO NY GO!" song, which became the rallying cry of the 1993 Playoffs. Copies of the song — performed by rapper Jesse Jaymes — were distributed to fans during the Playoffs.

*The American Airlines Playoff Takeoff Sweepstakes enabled winner Tracey Holman to join the Knicks at every home and away Playoff game. Tracey was on hand during every step of the Knicks' championship quest. She was a true Knicks fan and a terrific sport!

to teach is how do you get out of yourself and with the program to help the team. You have to want to be here, and you have to want to do it.

"Third, it will never make a difference what happens win or lose. It's how you grow from it. It's how you deal with it. It's how you take it. That's our greatest challenge, not to run away from it.

"Finally, the only thing you can count on to be permanent in life is change. When change rears its head, you have to adapt. A core of people are gone, a core of people remain and a new core joins the team. We have to learn to adapt to it."

Pat was the San Diego Rockets' first-round draft pick (seventh overall) in 1967, launching a nine-year NBA career. He played three seasons in San Diego before joining the Lakers in 1970-71. He spent five full seasons in a Laker uniform, and averaged 6.7 ppg on Los Angeles' 1971-72 NBA Championship team. Pat completed his NBA career with the Phoenix Suns in 1976.

Prior to his pro career, Pat was a collegiate star at the University of Kentucky (1963-67). He was the Wildcats' MVP for three seasons, averaged 22 ppg in his junior year on Kentucky's famed "Rupp's Runts" squad that made the NCAA finals, and team captain as a senior.

Born in Schenectady, N.Y., Riley attended Linton High School in Schenectady, where he starred in basketball and football. He was a member of the Linton team which defeated New York City's fabled Power Memorial and center Lew Alcindor, who, as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, would later lead Riley's Lakers to greatness.

Pat credits his high school and college coaches, Walt Przybylo and the famed Adolph Rupp, as two of his greatest influences. Riley was an 11th-round draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys, despite the fact that he didn't play football in college. His brother, Lee, played defensive back in the NFL and his father, Leon, was a major league catcher and minor league manager in the Phillies' chain.

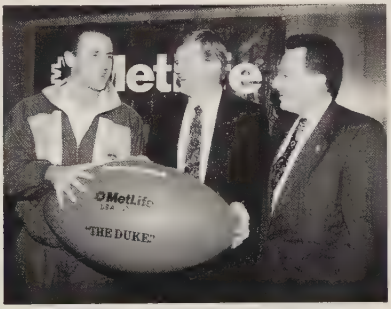
Pat and his wife Chris are involved with numerous charity and community service projects. They are both active in drug prevention programs which have included developing D.A.R.E. programs in Inglewood, Cal., as well as upstate New York, and more recently became involved with S.A.D.D. Pat sits on the Board of Directors of the Magic Johnson AIDS Foundation, which also involves the Pediatric AIDS Foundation. Both have contributed to the development of the Knicks Wives Save Lives breast cancer awareness program. In 1992, Pat was honored with three prestigious awards: the Miami Project Sports Legend Award, the March of Dimes Sports Achievement Award and the New York Athletic Club Sports Award. Riley has also served as an extremely active Chairman of the New York Blood Donor Campaign for the past three years, and was also named to the 1991-92 International Best Dressed List. His second book, The Winner Within, was published by G.P. Putnam's Sons just prior to the 1993-94 season.

Pat and Chris have two children, James Patrick (8) and Elisabeth Marie (5), and reside in Connecticut.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

BOROUGH NIGHTS — Knicks honored distinguished residents of each of the five boroughs with a series of "Borough Nights" at MSG. On Brooklyn Night (L), borough president Howard Golden (center) was feted by Brooklyn natives Stan Isaacs, Marv Albert, Knicks VPs John Cirillo and Frank Murphy, Hall of Fame writer Sam Goldaper, MSG's John Andariese and award-winning film-maker Spike Lee. Queens had its turn on Queens Night (R), with beaming borough president Claire Shulman issuing proclamation to (L to R) show biz legend Joe Franklin, trainer Mike Saunders, columnist George Vecsey, Knicks GM Ernie Grunfeld, MSG VP Ken Munoz, actor John Turturro and hockey's legendary "Big Whistle", Bill Chadwick.

BECAUSE OF YOU — The incomparable Tony Bennett's rendition of "America the Beautiful" thrilled the MSG crowd prior to the December 1 game against Portland.



PIGSKINS AND SLAM DUNKS — Pat Riley with Jets coach Bruce Coslet and MetLife's Bob Pizzute at the annual MetLife media luncheon, held just prior to Super Bowl Weekend.

ON THE AIR — Doc Rivers (R) joined John Andariese and Mike Breen for color commentary on MSG's coverage of the Doral Arrowwood New York Summer League.

JAMMIN'! — TC and Doc with hip-hop monarch Queen Latifah at the Starter "It's Up To You" Jam at the Paramount.

ON STAGE — MSG's John Andariese and Willow Bay of "NBA Inside Stuff" address rapt young audience at the Chinatown YMCA.

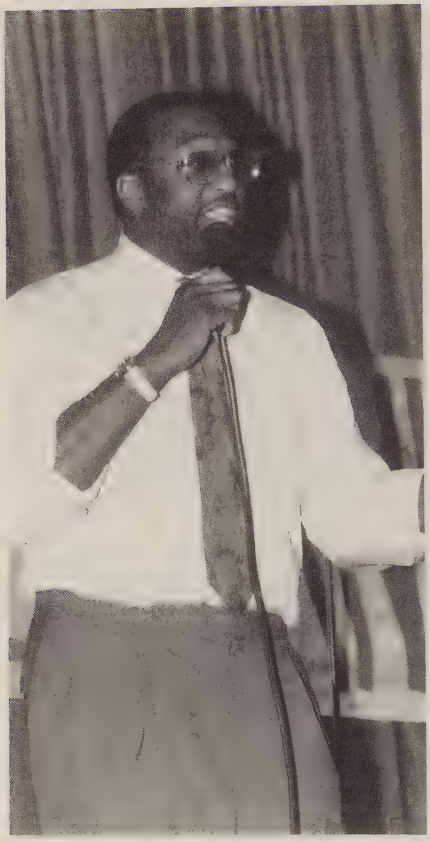
THE NBA IN THE COMMUNITY



National chairman BOB LANIER delivers the message: Stay In School!

The NBA, its teams, players and coaches share a commitment to supporting and improving the quality of life in their communities. On the national and local levels, the NBA and its 27 teams are involved in many public service initiatives.

Since 1989, the NBA and the National Basketball Players Association have worked together to address the dropout crisis through the NBA Stay in School program. Created to urge students to graduate from high school, the program uses the popularity of NBA players and coaches to stress the importance of attitude, attendance and achievement in school, and to encourage young people to develop pride and self-esteem. Hall of Famer Bob Lanier serves as National Chairman of the NBA Stay in School program. On the local level, Doc Rivers proudly serves as chairman of the Starter "It's Up To You" program, an area-wide initiative that climaxes in the star-studded Starter "It's Up To You" Jam at the Paramount Theatre.

Through public service announcements on TV and radio and other awareness-building programs, the NBA and its players also support the work of the Special Olympics, CARE, the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse, and Operation Prom/Graduation, a program that encourages high school seniors to celebrate an alcohol-free prom and graduation season.

The NBA also creates PSA programs in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in January and Black History Month each February, and has produced PSAs on behalf of the Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation to fight blindness. The League and its teams also address the importance of early detection in the treatment of breast cancer, in the "NBA Wives Save Lives" program.

PURCHASE COLLEGE: State University of New York

Knicks Official Training and Practice Site

The 1993-94 season marks the seventh year in which the Knicks will utilize Purchase College, State University of New York as their official training camp site and practice headquarters. Just prior to the start of this year's camp, the Knicks signed a 10-year agreement for Purchase College to continue as their practice facility.

The facilities at Purchase were completely refurbished during the summer of 1993, and were unveiled at dedication ceremonies on October 4, with Knicks president Dave Checketts, head coach Pat Riley, Purchase College president Bill Lacy and Mario Cuomo, governor of the State of New York, presiding over the gala affair. The state-of-the-art complex includes: three new courts with neo-shock floors, new weight and training rooms fully equipped with hydro-therapy equipment, new and expanded offices for the medical and coaching staffs, and an all-new video room and editing/taping facility.

"This is one of the finest practice facilities in the NBA," said Checketts on dedication day. "The commitment to the Knicks by Paramount Communications, Madison Square Garden and Purchase College is an extremely important one for our continued success."

Founded in 1967, Purchase College was built on a 500-acre estate in Westchester County, 45 minutes from midtown Manhattan. Students who attend Purchase College find an intimate learning atmosphere. The College has approximately 2,800 students, and awards the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Fine Arts and Master of Fine Arts Degrees.

In recognition of all their friends from Purchase College, the Knicks annually honor the school's staff and students on "Purchase Night" at the Garden. The College also holds a "Knicks Day" on campus each year, where local youngsters and students get the chance to meet their heroes.

Coach Riley, Governor Cuomo and Purchase College president Bill Lacy cut the ribbon to formally open the new facility.

ON THE KNICKS BEAT

Clifton Brown

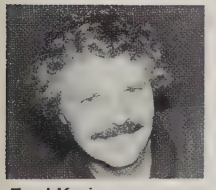
CLIFTON BROWN of The New York Times is in his fifth year with the newspaper and his fourth season on the Knicks beat, having succeeded Hall of Fame writer Sam Goldaper. Prior to joining the Times, Cliff spent five years as a sports reporter for the Detroit Free Press, including one year on the Pistons beat. Cliff was also with the Boca Raton (Fla.) News for two years (1981-83), covering general sports assignments. A graduate of Temple University with a BA degree in journalism, Cliff lives with his wife Delores in Freehold, N.J. Cliff has an eight-year old daughter, Ashley, and enjoys listening to jazz, reading (especially the works of James Baldwin) and hacking away on the golf course.

Curtis G. Bunn

CURTIS G. BUNN is currenly in his seventh season on the Knicks' beat, and his first full campaign with the New York Daily News. Curtis joined the News in February, 1993, after working at Newsday since 1985. Curtis came to New York from The Washington Times, where he worked from 1983 to 1985 and covered a variety of sports, centering on boxing, college hoop and college football. Curtis was also a city hall reporter for the St. Petersburg Times in 1983. A graduate of Norfolk State University with a degree in journalism, Curtis lives in Fords, N.J. with his wife Jacqueline and their two-year old daughter Gwendolyn. Curtis is an avid reader and student of African-American history, listing James Baldwin and Walter Mosley as his favorite authors.

Dave D'Alessandro

DAVE D'ALESSANDRO is in his second year on the Knicks' beat for the Bergen Record, and his 10th year with the North Jersey-based daily. Dave also enjoyed a year-and-a-half-long stint as New York correspondent for The National. He has covered a variety of sports for the Record, with a heavy concentration on the NBA. Dave lives in Fort Lee, N.J. with his wife Ellen Chase and their son Joseph (6). A graduate of Fordham University, D'Alessandro is one of the wide range of New York sports celebrities who gained their training at the fabled campus station, WFUV. An admitted C-Span addict, Dave is an avid student of American history, enjoys tennis and is an accomplished guitarist.



Fred Kerber

In the second year of his two-year term as president of the Pro Basketball Writers Association, FRED KERBER is on the Knicks' beat for the seventh full season, and fourth for the New York Post. Prior to joining the Post in 1990, Fred spent 16 years with the New York Daily News, covering the Knicks' beat for the final three years of that stint. During his time at the Daily News, he also handled cityside reporting for seven years, then moved permanently into sports in 1982, and subsequently handled the beats for both the Nets and Islanders. Holder of a degree in English and history from St. Peter's (N.J.) University, Fred makes his home in Bloomfield, N.J., with his wife Kris and sons Danny (13) and Jonathan (11). Fred has been a Little League coach for 13 years, and this past summer, his Bloomfield team won the tri-state McDonald's Youth Baseball Tournament, earning a trip to the regional playoffs in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Barry Rubinstein

BARRY RUBINSTEIN joins the Knicks' traveling media this season as the new beat reporter for the Newark Star-Ledger, succeeding Mike Guetti. Barry is in his third year with the Star-Ledger, having covered baseball and hockey during that time. Prior to joining the Ledger, Barry spent 12 years on the sports staff of the Morristown Daily Record, including time on both the Rangers' and Devils' beats. A 1982 graduate of William Patterson College, Barry majored in communications. The New Jersey native lives in Fair Haven, N.J., with his wife Karen. In his rare spare moments, Barry is a history buff who also enjoys watching old movies, counting The Longest Day and It's A Wonderful Life as his favorites.

David Steele

DAVID STEELE is in his second full year on the Knicks' beat, and his first full campaign for Newsday, having joined the Long Island-based daily in February, 1993. Just prior to re-entering the New York media field, David had been with the Stamford Advocate, following a year-and-a-half stint on the Knicks' beat for The National. He also served for one year as the Nets' beat reporter for the New York Post. A graduate of the University of Maryland with a degree in journalism, David joined the sports staff of the St. Petersburg Times upon graduation, covering pro football. He enjoys listening to rap, hip-hop and jazz, and is an avid devotee of "The Flintstones" and the literary works of Richard Wright. David lives in Jersey City, N.J.

MEDIA INFORMATION

Welcome to the 1993-94 Knickerbockers season. . .our 48th as a charter member of the NBA. Here are a few guidelines for media coverage which we hope will keep things running smoothly for everyone this season:

CREDENTIALS: Three credentials are honored for admission to the Garden: 1) Knicks season media passes; 2) Knicks daily passes (good for that specific game only), and 3) 1993-94 NBA working media cards. NO OTHER CREDENTIALS WILL BE HONORED.

Application for season or game credentials may be made by writing the Knicks' PR office, or calling (212) 465-6471. Season credentials will be sent to all media regularly covering the Knicks. Requests for single game credentials must be made by mail or phone to the Knicks' office at least 24 hours prior to game time. Day-of-game requests will not be honored. Radio stations, magazines and weekly newspapers will be accommodated on a game-by-game, space-available basis. When applying for the first time, requests from magazines and weekly newspapers, radio and TV stations must be made on company letterhead and must include copies of the publication (if applicable). Those holding season credentials who are covering a specific game must call the Knicks PR office so we may reserve seating. Those using NBA season working media passes for admission must also call Knicks PR to arrange seating. When in the Garden, we ask that media members please wear their credentials at all times.

FAX: Visiting media needing a final boxscore faxed back to their offices should inform any member of the Knicks gamenight staff during the game.

INTERVIEW AREA: The two head coaches will usually hold their post-game interview sessions in the hallway just outside their club's locker room. When necessary due to overflow press, post-game coaches' interviews will be moved to the interview room, just down the hall from the visitors' locker room at court level.

LOCKER ROOMS: Both the Knicks and visitors' locker rooms are located at court level on the 33rd Street (player benches) side of the Garden. Entering the locker room area from courtside, the Knicks' locker room is to your right and the visitors' to your left. The Knicks' locker room is open until 45 minutes prior to game time, and will reopen within 10 minutes after the final buzzer. Access to the visitors' locker room is determined by the visiting head coach. Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a work atmosphere in the locker rooms at all times.

NOTES: Game notes are available in the press room beginning 2 1/2 hours prior to game time. (For visiting media, game notes, credentials, programs and recent news clips will be delivered to their hotel the night before the game). Game notes, running sheets, quarter-by-quarter sheets and box scores are all available from the courtside game staff, as well as in the press workroom during and after the game. Post-game quotes and notes will be distributed in the press workroom as soon as possible after the game.

PHONES: Three credit-card telephones are available courtside for the use of visiting media who must file during the game. Due to the quick changeover for other Garden events, all post-game stories should be filed from the press workroom. An ample number of outlets and credit card phones is available to visiting media in the workroom. To acquire a phone instrument for postgame filing, see either Joe Pinto or John Arnone in the press room.

PHONE NUMBERS TO REMEMBER:

Knicks PR at MSG	(212) 465-6471
Knicks FAX	(212) 465-6498
SUNY Purchase office	(914) 251-6140

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Credentialed photographers may shoot from the baselines at either the 7th Avenue or 8th Avenue ends of the Garden. There are NO photo positions along the sidelines. Use of flash is prohibited. When circumstances dictate, the baselines will be marked off to reserve photo positions for the New York area dailies and wire services. Freelance photographers will not be granted credentials unless they are on specific assignment from a magazine or daily newspaper.

PRACTICES: Knicks practice sessions are held at SUNY Purchase in Westchester County, located just off Exit 28 of the northbound Hutchinson River Parkway. Practice sessions are closed to the media, with players and coaches available afterward. Here are the best ways to get to SUNY:

From New York City: Henry Hudson Parkway North to Saw Mill River Parkway North to Cross County Parkway East to Hutchinson River Parkway North to Exit 28. Off Exit 28, make a left turn off the exit, proceed 1 1/2 miles to the second traffic light and make a right turn at the light. The campus will be on your left off the turn.

From Long Island: Whitestone Bridge into the Bronx, then bear left off the bridge to the Hutchinson River Parkway North to Exit 28.

A Word To The Wise: Knicks practices are always subject to last-minute change and/or cancellation. Media wishing to cover practice should always call the Knicks' PR office to confirm times before venturing to Purchase.

PRESS ENTRANCE: The Garden's press entrance (8 Penn Plaza) is located on the corner of 33rd Street and 8th Avenue. Day-of-game credentials may be picked up there starting two hours prior to game time.

Use the press elevator to enter the Garden arena. The locker rooms and court are located on level five, the press room on level six.

PRESS ROOM: The Garden press room is located on the first promenade level of the Garden at 33rd Street and 8th Avenue. From the press entrance, take the elevator directly to level six. From courtside, the press room may be reached by walking through Gate 64 and turning right, or through Gate 65 and turning left.

The dining area (hot and cold buffet) opens 90 minutes prior to game time. The press workroom, located behind the dining area, is equipped with work space, phones and TV monitors. The press work area is for the exclusive use of working media filing on deadline. If you are not filing on deadline, please leave the work area for those who are.

Your press room hosts, as always, are Joe Pinto and John Arnone.

SEATING: Press seating at the Garden is located at courtside (on the 33rd Street sideline and on the baselines at 7th and 8th Avenues) and in the two lower ramp boxes located on the 8th Avenue end. Visiting media will be seated at the 7th Avenue baseline, directly next to the visitors' bench. Overflow press will be seated in the upper press boxes on the 31st and 33rd Street sides.

Broadcast locations for the 1993-94 season are as follows:

Knicks radio:	33rd Street vomitory (center court tunnel)
MSG Network:	Courtside, 31st Street
Visiting radio:	31st Street vomitory
Visiting Spanish radio:	Ramp box, Gate 63
Visiting TV:	Courtside, 31st Street
NBC/TNT/NBA Radio:	Courtside, 31st Street

TV REGULATIONS: Television stations should keep the following regulations in mind:

Live Shots: Stations intending to produce live shots from the Garden must inform three parties: 1) Knicks PR; 2) MSG Network (Pete Silverman at (212) 465-5950); and 3) MSG Electricians (Vinnie Leonard at (212) 465-6194) for appropriate coverage. All in-arena taping and live shots must be concluded by one hour prior to game time.

Game Action: With the exception of NBA Entertainment, TV crews are not permitted to shoot game action.

Electricians: Any TV stations or organizations whose equipment is not self-contained must use MSG Electricians for connection to power. Contact Vinnie Leonard at (212) 465-6194.

QUESTIONS?: Please give us a call if there's anything we can do for you. See you at courtside.

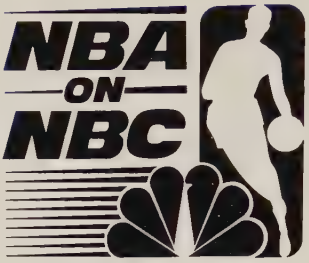
Marv Albert



Dick Enberg

NBC-TV

The 1993-94 season marks the fourth year for the NBA on NBC, with 24 nationally televised regular season games. The NBA and NBC have extended their partnership through the 1997-98 season.

As many as 19 of the NBA's 27 teams will be represented on the NBC schedule, which begins its "Game of the Week" series on Super Bowl Sunday (January 30).

For the second consecutive season, NBC will provide prime time coverage of the NBA All-Star Game (from Minneapolis on Sunday, February 13). In addition, NBC will carry up to 28 Playoff games, including complete coverage of The 1994 NBA Finals.

NBC's announce team will include play-by-play men Marv Albert and Dick Enberg. Bob Costas will again host "NBA Showtime".

The Knicks will be featured seven times on NBC during the 1993-94 season: February 6 vs. Orlando; February 20 vs. Chicago; February 27 at Phoenix; March 27 at Orlando; April 10 at New Jersey; April 17 at Charlotte, and April 24 at Chicago.

TNT SPORTS

TURNER NETWORK TELEVISION

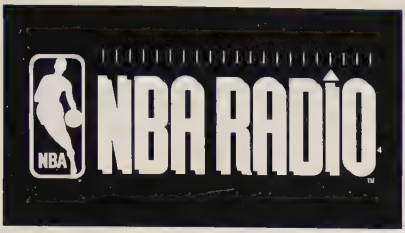
TNT will cablecast 50 regular season games during the 1993-94 NBA season, along with 30 Playoff games and several special events. Every team in the League will appear on the TNT regular season schedule.

In addition to game telecasts, TNT will also provide special coverage of the NBA All-Star Weekend from Minneapolis and the 1994 NBA Draft.

The TNT broadcast team includes play-by-play men Pete Van Wieren, Bob Neal, Gary Bender and Ron Thulin, and expert analysts Hubie Brown, Doug Collins and Jack Givens.

The Knicks will be featured 10 times on TNT during the 1993-94 season: November 12 at Indiana; December 17 at Chicago; January 21 at Orlando; January 25 vs. Phoenix; February 4 at Atlanta; February 7 at Miami; February 24 at Houston; March 22 vs. Chicago; March 29 vs. Charlotte, and April 11 vs. Orlando.

NBC / TNT /NBA RADIO



Joe McConnell

Bob Lanier

NBA RADIO

Currently in its third season of nationwide broadcast coverage, NBA Radio will carry 14 regular season "Game of the Week" matchups, the NBA All-Star Game, and up to 28 Playoff games, including complete coverage of the Conference Finals and The 1994 NBA Finals. The NBA is the only pro sports league that produces, clears and markets its own national radio broadcast series.

Longtime NBA play-by-play voice Joe McConnell is joined by Hall of Famer Bob Lanier and studio host Tom Hanneman on the national broadcasts.

The Knicks will be heard four times on NBA Radio in 1993-94: February 20 vs. Chicago; February 27 at Phoenix; March 27 at Orlando, and April 24 at Chicago.

BROADCAST BLACKOUT POLICIES

NBC GAMES

Except in the case of the NBA Finals, a home team whose game is broadcast by NBC may request a blackout of NBC network affiliate stations within 75 miles of the corporate or unincorporated limits of the home team's city of operation (e.g. for the Cavaliers, Cleveland not Richfield), unless the game is sold out at least 48 hours in advance.

TNT GAMES

All TNT broadcasts will be blacked out on cable systems within 35 miles of the city of operation of the home team involved in the TNT game.

"SUPERSTATION" GAMES (WGN, WTBS, WWOR)

Under FCC rules, the home team may receive blackout relief, under certain circumstances, if it is not broadcasting a game on over-the-air television and the visiting team is televising the game over a "Superstation" or a microwave-delivered television station. The NBA Broadcasting Department will handle cable system blackout notifications for its teams with the NBA's legal counsel, assuring that these "distant signal" telecasts will be blacked out within 35 air miles of the home team's city of operation.

NBA RADIO

Each National radio broadcast will be blacked out in the home and visiting team's home market and in each of their respective regional network markets.

Right now, all over the world, IBM is involved with more sports than you can shake a club at. Or a bat. Or a racquet.

That's because from recording RBIs, to tracking aces, to helping deserving teens attend major league showdowns, IBM's people and technology are participating in sports events that benefit athletes and fans alike.

Which is why, if you see anything computer-oriented at your favorite tournament, game or match, chances are it'll be sporting three familiar letters:
